Cotton Forges to Fore as Bulls Again Rule Markets

BIG U. S. ESTIMATE FAILS TO PREVENT STAPLE'S ADVANCE

South's Chief Product Gains Nearly Dollar a Bale in Face of Forecast of Second Biggest Crop in History.

SECURITIES, SILVER CONTINUE TO RISE

Practically All Minor Commodities Reflect Firm Tone of Larger Exchanges.

By The Associated Press.

Bulls held the whip hand as financial markets began the new week yesterday.

Cotton, a laggard during the brilliant advances of the previous week, tore through to the fore, despite a bearish government crop estimate.

Stocks, bonds, wheat and silver were among leaders surging up to new high levels for the autumn recovery. The day's extreme advances were reduced or erased here and there by profit-taking sales, but pressure was stubbornly resisted.

Cotton futures in the New York market pushed up to close with gains of 55 to 80 cents a bale, as traders were unperturbed by the census bureau's crop estimate as of November 1, showing a gain of 619,000 bales over October 1, and indicating a yield of 16,903,000, the second largest crop in history.

Wheat futures swelled more than a cent a bushel in the Chicago pit. Some bull traders saw fresh war clouds in the far east as a basis for higher prices. Late profit-taking cancelled the gains, but the market closed with negligible changes from Saturday. Various deliveries were unchanged to 3-8 of a cent lower.

The stock market churned about evenly, as bulls lashed vigorous drives in steels, utilities, rails and non-ferrous metals. Extreme advances were curtailed by realizing in the last half hour, but pivotal shares generally ranged $1 to $2 a share above Saturday's final prices. Trading equaled Saturday's hectic pace at times, and the turnover exceeded 3,000,000 shares, the largest in a month.

The bond market broke through a new high for the recovery, in the best advance in three weeks.

Silver futures surged up 3 cents an ounce on the National Metal Exchange, reaching for the first time the limit which the exchange permits in fluctuations in any one day. Trading broke all records for this comparatively new market, with a turnover of approximately 7,500,000 ounces.

Bar silver for immediate delivery rose 1 3-8 cents in New York to 35 3-8, an ounce, a new high for 1931, for the fourth successive business day.

Non-ferrous metals generally were firm.

While futures continued to surge upward in the New York Hide Exchange, in one of its most active sessions.

Misconduct Charged

A Pineville (Kentucky) grand jury has been asked to investigate charges that Theodore Dreiser, novelist and sociologist, was guilty of misconduct with a young woman while in Pineville last week studying conditions among the miners.

DREISER ACCUSED OF MISCONDUCT

Grand Jury Asked To Investigate Reports of Relations With Woman.

PINEVILLE, Ky., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Grand jury investigation of charges of misconduct by Theodore Dreiser and a young woman and also of addresses made during the Dreiser committee's inquiry in the southeastern Kentucky coal fields was asked today by Circuit Judge D. C. Jones.

Addressing a regular session of the Bell county grand jury in open court, the judge, who was one of the centers of attack made in addresses and testimony before the committee, severely criticized its actions and said its members had come to the coal fields to get publicity and to capitalize on the miners. The grand jury began hearing witnesses during the afternoon but it was not announced whether they testified about Dreiser and his committee.

Judge Jones said witnesses had sworn to a warrant charging Dreiser and a young woman had lived together openly at a hotel here and added:

"If these facts are true, I suggest that the grand jury indict them."

He also told the grand jurors to inquire whether Kentucky's criminal syndicalism law had been violated in addresses at any of the mass meetings held in the coal fields last week by the Dreiser committee and to report.

INDIRECT ATTACK MADE ON HOOVER BY NAVY LEAGUE

Hint of Negative Reply to Apology Demand Seen in Publication of Coolidge Views.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Still encumbered by controversy with the White House, the Navy league broke once more into print today, using this time not its own words, but those of Calvin Coolidge.

With Armistice Day approaching, the league distributed to newspapers a pamphlet reprinting in whole the address made by the last president on the 1928 anniversary of the World War's ending. Paragraph after paragraph of the text, calling attention to the need for considerable naval armament, has been printed in bold type to stand out from the rest.

Publication of the booklet was intended long before President William Howard Garrison, of the league, brought upon his head the wrath and investigation of the White House by denouncing the Hoover naval policy. Garrison is expected by his friends to make a reply within two days or so to the report of the Hoover five-man committee which held his attack unsound and full of inaccuracies. It appears certain this will not be an apology but rather a counter-attack.

The gathering hosts of congress brought some more comment to bear during the day on the Garrison-Hoover incident. Senator George Norris, republican, was sharp and caustic in talking of the committee picked by the president to answer the league charges. He suggested the method be generally adopted—that defendants pick their own jurors.

"I take it for granted," observed the Nebraskaan, "that the president would not be willing to appoint a jury to try himself and deny a similar right to other citizens of the United States."

Senator Swanson, Virginia, democrat, and Senator Couzens, republican, Michigan, predicted a congressional investigation of the whole question. Couzens held that any charges against the president should be examined by congress. And his remark was interpreted as carrying an implied criticism of the Hoover-appointed investigation.

Senator Lewis, democrat, Illinois, also made this observation:

"I was surprised to see the president give such heed and importance to the incident. I supposed the president would let his policies answer the accusations."

At the White House, Theodore J. Sullivan, secretary, indicated the president wished to consider the matter closed and probably would have no more to say about it.

Loyalty to Atlanta's interests, and desire to help solution of community problems will be made the basis of appeal this week to organizations and groups in business, industrial, and official fields in seeking response to the campaign for relief funds.

With nearly $90,000 to be raised for the Chest's $465,000 fund, and $220,000 yet to be obtained for unemployment emergency work, it is planned to make this week one of redoubled effort for completion of the former and to close that phase of the campaign Friday.

A rally of campaign workers to be held Friday at 12:15 o'clock on the Ansley roof is expected to bring reports of contributions sufficient to complete the Chest fund. Reports of a rally Tuesday at 12:15 o'clock have been corrected, campaign headquarters announcing that no gathering will be held until Friday.

An "honor roll" of groups whose personnel have contributed 100 per cent to the Chest emergency fund was prepared Monday at campaign headquarters, with the prospect that other names will be added as the organizations report.

The "one hundred per cent" organizations are as follows:

Insurgents Burn Ballot Box To Bar Second Tech Election

Tech students casting their ballots in a second but futile attempt to hold class elections for this year. Left to right are C. A. Wells, election guard, while W. L. Tribble, center, and H. B. Marcovitch are dropping their votes in the official box.

Destroying one ballot box by fire, and mysteriously making away with Monday's outbreak, is for a change in the form of student government. Blame for the violent revolt against the established order remained unfixed late Monday, after an admission that the voting box in the physics building had "disappeared," but campus politicians said that another attempt to hold an election would be made.

Charges flew thick and fast all day Monday as a group of unidentified students continued their militant war against what they described as "the domination of a group of hand-picked candidates for campus honors."

"We are against the nominations," they declared.

Leaders of 4 States Meet at Beaufort To Outline Development Plans.

BEAUFORT, S. C., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Vast possibilities for development of the four southeastern coastal states were pointed out by prominent speakers from the area at a meeting today of the Coastal Co-ordination Organization.

Stuart W. Cramer, of Cranston, N. C.; Howard E. Coffin, of Sapelo Island, Ga.; Mayor John T. Alsop Jr., of Jacksonville; Clark Howell, editor of The Atlanta Constitution; M. O. Dunham, collector of the port of Savannah; Mayor W. D. Jennings, of Augusta; and Mayor Thomas M. Haynes, of Savannah, were among outstanding men of the area to address an all-day conference of the organization today.

Others, including W. A. Elliott, business manager of the Jacksonville Florida Times-Union; Burnett R. Maybank, mayor-nominee of Charleston; Mayor L. B. Owens, of Columbia; Congressman Homer C. Parker, of Statesboro, Ga.; and Mayor Harold Kimbry, of Georgetown, S. C., were among the prominent men of the area attending the meeting.

Mayor Alsop said it was a "good thing for four states to organize into one splendid team. While the people have been busy building highways, railroads and the like, they have not

A. D. POOLE TRIAL MUST END TODAY, JUDGE ANNOUNCES

Court Will Stay in Session "Until Midnight," If Necessary; Patrolman Pleads Self-Defense.

With the announced intention by Judge John B. Hutcheson, of the Stone Mountain circuit, presiding in Fulton superior court, that the trial of Patrolman A. D. Poole, son of Chief of Detectives A. Lamar Poole, on a charge of assault with intent to murder, will be brought to a close today, if court "has to remain in session until midnight," the trial will be resumed this morning at 8:30 o'clock, an hour earlier than usual.

In taking the day's recess Monday shortly before 6 o'clock, Judge Hutcheson informed the jury and the courtroom that the case must be finished today. He said that the work of the courts is being slowed up by the length of the trial and that it must be brought to an end.

Monday's trial was featured by the self-defense plea of young Poole when placed on the stand in his own defense, and by the sticking between the state and defense in an effort to impeach the testimony of two witnesses.

Poole testified that, contrary to statements of witnesses, he had not been shot at that time as he thought he could catch the fleeing man, but that when he thought him to be escaping he shot him. He denied that Special Officer W. L. Shields, the state's chief witness, was even at the scene of shooting.

After Poole's statement the defense rested, but announced that several other witnesses would be placed on the stand today.

Solicitor-General John A. Boykin brought to the stand a large number of witnesses in rebuttal, and there are still others today, he informed the court. At time of recess, Willie Mathis, 141 Savannah street, was on the stand.

William Holliday, 11, who resides on Carroll street, told of seeing Poole reload his pistol and exhibited shells.

Former Anna Case Is Injured in Crash

Is Injured in Crash

JERICHO, N. Y., Nov. 9.—(AP)—A severely lacerated hand and possible internal injuries were suffered late today by Mrs. Clarence H. Mackay, the former Anna Case, opera star, when her limousine collided with an automobile on a highway about seven miles from Mackay's Long Island home.

Mrs. Mackay was cut on the hand when she shielded her face from flying glass. Her chauffeur, Michael Svoboda, was uninjured.

After her hand had been bandaged, Mrs. Mackay complained of pains about the ribs and an X-ray examination was ordered. She was taken to the Nassau County hospital at Mineola.

The accident occurred when the second machine swerved in front of the Mackay car at an intersection. All of the machines involved left the scene before police arrived.

First information came to police when Mrs. Mackay was brought to the hospital.

Chairman Re-elected

ALBERT HOWELL.

HOWELL RENAMED COMMITTEE HEAD

Chairman Is Re-elected by Fulton County Democratic Executive Body.

Albert Howell, leading Atlanta attorney, Monday was re-elected chairman of the Fulton county democratic executive committee, at a meeting at the courthouse at which initial steps were taken to ascertain the status of the Campbell and Milton county representation.

The two counties become a part of Fulton under mergers effective January 1, and a ruling as to the status of the old committees and the representation of those sections in Fulton county's committee will be sought from Lawrence Camp, of Campbell, who is chairman of the state democratic committee.

Hewitt W. Chambers, selected as secretary to succeed J. D. Thomas, said the ruling probably will be asked within the next week.

Mr. Howell has long been prominent in democratic circles and has been a champion of party regularity many times in recent years. He is recognized as one of Atlanta's outstanding legal authorities and is building of the Fulton-Annecheli road, constructed by Japan, and set forth a claim that the road right belongs to the Japanese-owned South Manchuria railway.

16-Year-Old Boy Held in Grandfather's Death

TRYON, N. C., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Orit Boone, 16, was lodged in the Polk county jail at Columbus today, charged with slaying J. W. Boone, his 65-year-old grandfather.

Members of the dead man's family told a coroner's jury that the youth came home in an intoxicated condition and threatened to kill the first person who entered the room.

The elder Boone attempted to enter the room, they said, and the boy fired. The grandfather was struck in the chest.

Prince Nicholas Weds Commoner Despite King Carol's Opposition

BUDAPEST, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Elopement of Prince Nicholas, of Rumania, and Mme. Janna Lucia Delet, a beauty not of noble birth, and their marriage after a wild dash by automobile to escape the disapproval of the prince's brother, King Carol, was reported here today.

The mayor of the village of Tohan, near Buzau, was impelled by the prince to flee the town in a chariot before he could be frustrated by the king, said the reports which came from border sources.

The mayor knew that he should not perform the ceremony without authorization from the king. But as he was confronted by the determined

AMERICA SEEKS NEW PEACE PATH

Nanking Claims Japan Is Fomenting Violence To Discredit Chinese Ability To Keep Order.

By The United Press.

Open warfare has broken out on five separate fronts in Manchuria, with well-trained Japanese troops inflicting heavy casualties on groups of irregular Chinese forces operating along the South Manchuria railroad.

Seven hundred Chinese were killed or wounded in a battle near the important city of Haicheng, north of Dairen, and 30 more were killed in a second engagement to the north of that city, according to late cables from the Far East.

The situation at Tientsin, where a Japanese bombardment brought to a close 12 hours of fighting by a disorganized horde of ex-Chinese soldiers, was still tense, with international troops, including Americans, still guarding the foreign colonies.

Reports that General Ma Chanshan had "declared war" on Japan were described by the Japanese foreign office as "too ridiculous to deserve comment," since General Ma is merely a subordinate and semi-independent commander in the Chinese army with only 12,000 troops operating in the region of Tientsin.

The American state department was preparing another note, in a new and perhaps final effort to avert formal fighting in Manchuria. Troops numbering 735 men are protecting the lives of 476 Americans in Tientsin, and American property valued at $9,500,000.

In notes delivered to the League of Nations today, the Chinese accused the Japanese of attempting to gain control of northern Manchuria, and of seizing more than $2,000,000 of Chinese funds at Changchun. The Japanese countered by accusing the Chinese of failure to pay for the building of the Tientsin-Annecheli road, constructed by Japan, and set forth a claim that the road right belongs to the Japanese-owned South Manchuria railway.

GANG OFFERS RETURN OF BONDS FOR LIBERTY

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 9.—(P)—Gus Winkler, held for trial in connection with the $2,500,000 robbery of the Lincoln National bank, has offered to return through Al Capone's gang $800,000 of the stolen bonds if allowed freedom, Attorney-General C. A. Sorensen said today.

Sorensen said Capone and his friends had offered to pay $75,000 for the securities and return them to the bank if the charge against Winkler was dropped. The offer included all but $30,000 of the negotiable paper taken in the robbery.

Winkler denied participation in the robbery but said he knew where the bonds were and could buy them through his Chicago allies. He is under $100,000 bond pending trial.

Governor Charles W. Bryan said the state should make no compromise with Winkler.

The governor said "the state has been humiliated by the overtures to permit the head man of the robbery gang to escape punishment by returning part of the loot."

Winkler told Nebraska officers that he was in Buffalo, N. Y., the day of the robbery and was registered at a hotel there.

Sorensen said Winkler submitted his alibi a month in advance of his trial.

Three others charged with the robbery did not submit alibis until they were brought into court for trial.

Thomas O'Connor was sentenced to 25 years in prison, the maximum for bank robbery. Howard Lee is awaiting sentence and the jury in the Jack Britt case could not agree.

"I think Towle should investigate Winkler's alibi," Sorensen said. "If the alibi is shaky, Winkler must be prosecuted, bonds or no bonds. We don't want to prosecute him on general principles."

The return of the bonds should not be sneered at. Winkler's underworld connections gave him knowledge of where the bonds are and people most vitally injured by the bank robbery asked for a complete investigation.

"Six banks had placed their entire capital stock in the Lincoln National bank," Sorensen said. "One has failed and others may fail if the securities are not returned."

He said Colonel Isham Randolph and Rufus Dawes, of the Chicago crime commission, had suggested a thorough investigation into Winkler's alibi.

A five-part system was provided for the east.

Eastern railways, however, opposed this system and about six weeks ago the principal lines came in with a proposed plan for four systems. They asked the commission to amend its plan.

Dredges Push Work On Canal Landslide

BALBOA, C. Z., Nov. 9.—(P)—Dredges were endeavoring tonight to clear a ship channel through the Gailard cut of the Panama Canal, blocked by a landslide caused by incessant rains.

The east bank of the cut gave way early this morning, dumping nearly 250,000 square yards of earth into the canal, which is 100 yards wide at that point, and filling it to within 25 feet of the surface.

The bank cracked 1,000 feet back from the canal, engineers said, threatening the canal with more and heavier slides. Shipping already had been tied up by a flood in Gatun Lake.

A. J. BIDDLE JR. NAMED IN CONTEMPT CHARGE

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—(P)—Anthony J. Biddle Jr., social leader and sportsman, was adjudged in contempt of court in a formal order signed today by Federal Judge Francis G. Caffery.

The order was issued because of Biddle's refusal to answer questions before Referee Harold P. Coffin in connection with the affairs of the bankrupt Sonora Products Company of America, of which he was a director.

Judge Caffery's order directed the United States marshal to place Mr. Biddle in county jail unless he consents to testify in the bankruptcy proceedings, but the judge on the back of the document indorsed a stay of execution until November 20 to give Mr. Biddle's attorney time to appeal.

Virginia Apples

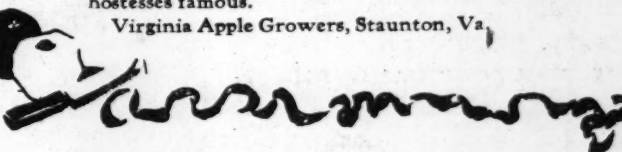

THE apples nowhere grow so sweet as in Virginia, and there is a good reason for it.

The Virginia orchards are located in a limestone section. It has the kind of soil in which the apple tree's roots like to make their home. This soil produces grass that makes thoroughbred horses of bone and substance. It produces apples of greater "suction" that weigh five pounds more to the bushel.

But more than that, the apples are not handicapped by a short growing season. They have ample time in which to sweeten in the sun. Through a long succession of sun-drenched days, they honey on the trees.

Be sure to order Virginia Apples for health's sake, eat three a day. SIDESTEPPING LAID TO U. S. ON COTTON

State Department Evading Parley Issue, Wannamaker Charges.

ST. MATTHEWS, S. C., Nov. 9.—(AP)—J. Skottow Wannamaker, president of the American Cotton Association, charged today that the state department of the United States is sidestepping on the question of calling an international cotton conference.

The purpose of the conference, Mr. Wannamaker explained in a statement, would be "to discuss and enter into an agreement for limitation of cotton acreage and control of production."

"He said the proposed conference had been widely endorsed by different organizations and prominent individuals. After the conference was so endorsed," he continued, "the state department of the national government sidestepped with the statement that the federal government would have no authority to enact cotton control legislation and was in disapproval of the proposed international cotton conference."

"The position of the national government is groundless. The states can enact acreage control legislation and the national government of the leading nation of the world cannot hesitate to accept the responsibility attached to that leadership."

COUZENS' $200,000 SWELLS RELIEF FUND

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—(UP)—A check for $200,000 to help feed Detroit's unemployed was sent today by Senator James Couzens, Michigan, to Mayor Frank Murphy, of Detroit.

The check was one of five monthly installments, aggregating $1,000,000, which Couzens offered to contribute if other wealthy Michigan people would contribute proportionately.

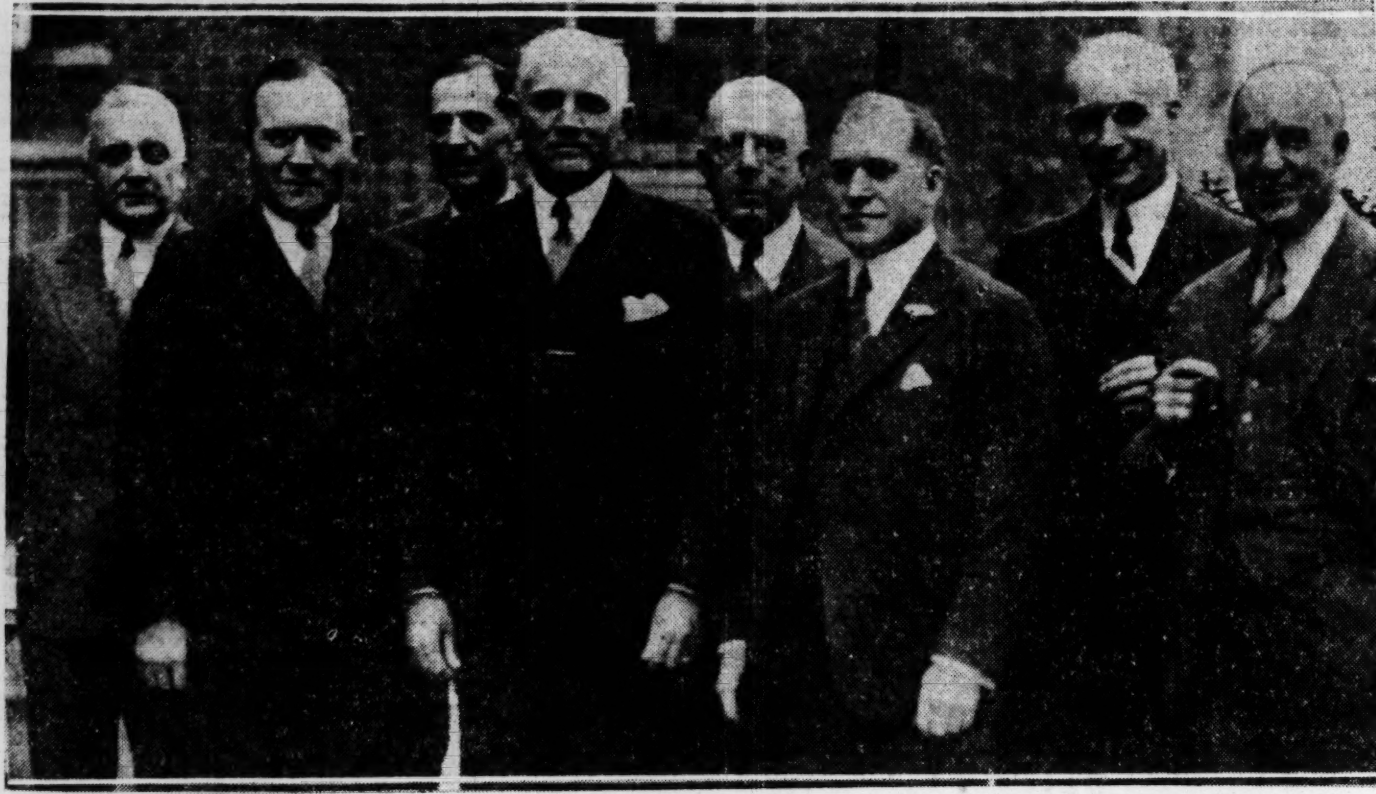

The money will be spent through a special committee set up by civic leaders, Couzens said, without any cost of administration.

Whether or not he will send $200,000 in each of the remaining four months of the winter, depends on what is done, he said.

Address by William D. Anderson, Macon Manufacturer, Will Open Convention of Fertilizer Association Today

and Warner D. Huntington, Baltimore, past president. On the back row are Gustavus Ober Jr., Baltimore, past president; Harry B. Baylor, Atlanta, chairman convention committee; Charles H. MacDowell, Chicago, past president, and L. W. Rowell, Chicago, past president. Staff photo by Bill Mason.

Aspects of socialism in American industries will be presented by William D. Anderson, president of the Bibb Manufacturing Company, of Macon, as guest speaker at the opening general session of the National Fertilizer Association at the Biltmore hotel this morning.

The association's seventh annual convention got under way Monday with a meeting of the board of directors and registration of members attending. Early registrations indicate that more than 200 executives of the fertilizer industries will participate in this year's conference.

A highlight of the convention will be the annual dinner tonight, with Charles F. Wilson, member of the federal farm board and former commissioner of agriculture for New York, scheduled to deliver the principal address. He will discuss the activities of the farm board.

The movement for "temporary reduction of cotton acreage" was endorsed by the association but disapproval was expressed of reducing cotton acreage by legislative measures, in a statement issued for the association by Charles J. Brand, executive secretary and treasurer of the organization, Monday.

Famous Russian Motion Picture To Be Shown in Atlanta Tonight

Atlanta is given opportunity, at 8:30 o'clock tonight at the Woman's Club auditorium, to see one of those famous Russian moving pictures of which we have been hearing for years but which, due to box office rule, the commercial theater cannot bring to us.

"Storm Over Asia," something entirely different in screen art from anything ever made in America, is the film to be presented tonight. It is the first of a series to be given this winter by Foreign-Films, an organization of prominent Atlantans, formed to bring here these sensational pictures which otherwise could not be shown locally.

These Russian pictures are said to be as different in their composition, as strikingly original in theme, handling, direction and photography as a new art on canvas or in stone. They have been shown privately and in little theaters in New York and other large cities but, because of the limited appeal to the minority that looks for something besides crude emotion and slapstick comedy, they are out of the question for the theaters that must play to thousands daily if they are to be supported.

"Storm Over Asia" was directed by V. Pudovkin, a Russian director who is in every sense an artist. The story of the film is based upon historical fact, which occurred when the British occupied Mongolia during the Russian revolution. It concerns a modern descendant of Genghis Khan and depicts in vivid scene the world drama that was played on the great steppes and in the Cossack cottages while the statesmen of the big powers ignored its significance in their ignorance.

Tonight the Atlantans who are fortunate enough to obtain tickets will see something entirely new in their motion picture experience. They will see scenes that are awe-inspiring in their art and their perfect simplicity and they will witness sights that have never before been photographed. Among the latter is the famous Festival of the Masks, danced by the sacred lamas and which was photographed only after bitter opposition by many of the Mongolian monks who thought a camera would desecrate their centuries old monastery and its sacred precincts.

Hugh Hodgson, famous Atlanta and Athens pianist, will play excerpts from Rubinstein's Concerto in D Minor as a prologue to the picture, while a small symphony orchestra, conducted by V. V. Sheets, will play the original musical score throughout the showing. The American titles of the film were written by Shelley Hamilton.

The picture is shown not only for members of Foreign-Films but for the general public also. There are a number of desirable seats yet available and tickets for tonight's performance, at $1, may be obtained either at the Hoxsey Travel Service, 91 Forsyth street, in the Piedmont Hotel building, or at the box office of the Woman's Club prior to the performance tonight. Owing to the limited capacity of the auditorium it is desirable that all wishing to see this sensational production purchase their tickets as early this morning as possible.

TWO ARE KILLED AS PLANE CRASHES

WILMAKKEE, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Conrad Dickinson, who held a private pilot's license, and Miss Ethel Galligan, 27, were killed late today when a plane piloted by Dickinson crashed near here.

Witnesses said the plane was flying at a low altitude. The cause of the crash was undetermined.

MASS IS CELEBRATED BY NATION'S CATHOLICS

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 9.—(AP)—The solemn pontifical mass, with its elaborate ritual, nearly 2,000 years old, was celebrated here Sunday by Roman Catholics from all parts of the country in the beginning of a two-day joint celebration for the 25th anniversary of the Sacred Heart cathedral and the opening of St. Joseph's villa, a Catholic orphanage.

The occasion brought to Richmond what was called "the largest gathering of the Catholic hierarchy ever held in the south."

In the procession at the huge cathedral were more than 40 priests, each acting as a guard of honor to a bishop, three abbots, and the most Rev. Fumasoni-Biondi, apostolic delegate of Pope Pius XI, and the ranking prelate of the Catholic church in America. They were followed by Right Rev. A. J. Brennan, bishop of Richmond, and Most Rev. M. J. Curley, archbishop of Baltimore, and others.

CAROLINA WOMAN HELD IN MATE'S TORCH DEATH

DOBSON, N. C., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Mrs. Ida Trainum, 38, accused of pouring kerosene over her husband, Thomas S. Trainum, 45, setting his clothing afire and burning him to death, was in a cell in the county jail here today, awaiting grand jury action on her case.

A coroner's jury ordered Mrs. Trainum held after investigation of the strange circumstances surrounding her husband's death a week ago. Shortly after she locked the front door of Trainum's cafe about 1 a. m. Sunday of last week he was discovered in a rear room lying on a bed wet with kerosene and his oil-soaked clothing afire.

Mrs. Trainum said she had lost the key and it was necessary to break down the door to gain entrance to the cafe. She said he was intoxicated and she had put him to bed in the cafe.

ANNIVERSARY PASSES QUIETLY IN GERMANY

BERLIN, Nov. 9.—(AP)—The thirtieth anniversary of the founding of the German republic passed quietly throughout the reich today.

The communist headquarters here were liberally decorated with red flags. Numerous wreaths bearing the old imperial colors were deposited on the memorial to the war dead. The Hitlerites decorated with fascist emblems the graves of 200 members who have fallen in political fights during the eight years of the party's existence.

Lowered Costs and Increased Estate Profits

ESTATES, like all successful business enterprises, must be capably managed if continuous profits are to be maintained. The things that decrease costs make for profit in an estate as well as in a business.

By arranging the proper disposition and management of your assets in relation to what you wish to accomplish, you assure their conservation, avoid a breaking up of control and eliminate unnecessary estate expense. By delegating the necessary authority to your Corporate Executor-Trustee so that it may work to the best advantage, you can be certain that your estate will be managed and settled economically and effectively.

This institution will welcome an opportunity to acquaint you with the economy that accompanies the proper use of Wills and Trusts, and the methods it uses in handling estates.

Ask for a copy of our new book, "The Testamentary Trust." It will disclose to you several important sources of estate economy.

Laymen To Take Active Part In Methodist Meeting Here

Organization Said To Be More Nearly Perfected Than Ever; Conference Opens Thursday Morning

BY DR. THOMAS M. ELLIOTT.
Methodist laymen throughout the North Georgia conference territory are expected to take an active part in the conference proceedings during the annual session beginning here at Wesley Memorial church Thursday morning, with Bishop John M. Moore presiding. It is said that the laymen's organization is now more nearly perfected than ever, and in position to render great assistance in church enterprises. Under the leadership of Professor R. L. Ramsey, of the Fulton county school system, conference lay leader, there have been set up in each of the 12 districts of the conference districts boards of lay workers through which the church work is promoted in the individual churches. District conferences held during the summer months chose new district boards, and adopted a working program for the year. Also in the district conferences more time was devoted to laymen's work than usual, and in some of the conferences most of the work was done by laymen. Co-operating with Lay Leader Ramsey, and composing the annual conference board of lay activities, are the following district lay leaders and their associates: Athens district, Dr. N. G. Slaughter, with Dr. J. M. Pounds and C. E. Sutton as associates. North Atlanta district, C. T. Grizzard, with L. B. deJarnette and R. L. Hale as associates. South Atlanta district, John W. Hardwick, with Judge W. B. Hollingsworth as associate. Augusta district, Dr. W. T. Price, with J. C. Evans and C. W. Coleman as associates. Dalton district, E. P. Hall, with H.

J. Smith and R. S. Wheeler as associates. Elberton district, L. L. Morris, with J. T. Holbrook and M. A. Allison as associates. Gainesville district, Hammond Johnson, with M. C. Wiley and E. A. Starr as associates. Griffin district, J. H. Battle, with T. O. Callaway and W. A. Jones as associates. LaGrange district, W. N. Banks, with H. T. Quillian and J. D. Miller as associates. Marietta district, Smith L. Johnson, with J. J. Daniel and Alfred McClure as associates. Oxford district, S. D. Stembridge, with J. B. Duke and R. P. Lester as associates. Rome district, S. C. Connolly, with J. M. Graham and D. E. Pennington as associates. During the annual conference session this week the men named above composing the conference board of lay activities will be in closest touch with the conference program, and will have much to do with formulating the program for the coming year. And during the coming months they will co-operate with the presiding elders in making the program effective in the congregations throughout the upper half of the state. This system establishes an efficient and effective method of reaching every congregation in the shortest time with the special endeavors to be fostered by the church. And this system is spreading rapidly throughout the entire Methodist conference. In addition to the lay activities in each district, the district conferences this year chose 176 other laymen to attend the annual conference this week, to represent the various charges, and to become better schooled in the management and promotion of church business. The 176 lay delegates attending the annual conference will be recognized in all the deliberations. Upon their return home they will be in position to give their home congregations new information and inspiration.

3 Markers Sought to Commemorate Heroism in Battles Near Atlanta

Construction of three monuments commemorating the valorous deeds of Union and Confederate heroes during the War Between the States at a minimum cost of $50,000 each, proposed.

COLONEL H. L. LANDERS.

ably will be recommended to congress for consideration at the forthcoming session, it was indicated Monday by Colonel H. L. Landers, of the historical section of the Army War College, Washington. Colonel Landers said Monday night that his plans were still in an embryonic stage but that he would confer with city planning experts today and locate his offices temporarily in that division of the city government in order to seek closer co-operation between federal and city officials in the advancement of the plan.

He may appear Thursday at the regular semi-monthly meeting of the city planning commission to explain his work. A conference will be held with Wilbur Kuriz, Atlanta artist and historian, who is a member of the planning commission. The survey has been authorized by general legislation and specific appropriations are expected to be placed before congress in December.

Establishment of a battle memorial park embracing territory commemorating the battle of Peachtree Creek, the Battle of Atlanta proper, and the battle of Ezra church is the ultimate design of the government. Recommendations concerning the battle of Kennesaw mountain already have been filed. "We want the co-operation of the city in this matter and want to work with it," Colonel Landers said. "It is the purpose of the government to assist in establishing proper memorials and markers to commemorate historical events."

He is being entertained while in Atlanta by Eugene Ditz, Atlanta artist and Senator William J. Harris, who has been pushing Atlanta's claims in Washington. Colonel Landers indicated he will hold a hearing here and obtain the general sentiment of Atlantans toward the projected memorials.

Grandi Discovers Own Flag on Ship

BY JOHN EVANS.
S. S. CONTE GRANDE, EN ROUTE TO THE UNITED STATES, Nov. 9.—(P)—Dino Grandi saw his own flag—the flag of the foreign minister of Italy—for the first time today as he stood on the bridge of this vessel near the gigantic fortress rock of Gibraltar.

Grandi, pointed out the flag to him. It is of white with an outline of blue for the House of Savoy and the fascist emblem in the center. Since the vessel left Naples the flag has been flying, but the foreign minister didn't know it. Signor Grandi was greatly interested in the little Genoese settlement which has been perched on the rock for 300 years. The tongue of Genoa still is spoken there, he was told.

Fashioned of finest porcelain, encrusted with gold, exquisite in color and design, this Coalport China tea service is one of the MOST EXPENSIVE in the world. From the collection of Wm. H. Plummer & Co., Limited.

YOU WILL FIND such a tea service only among people to the "manner born"—accustomed to the finer things of life—the most expensive.

And that precisely is the type of person who uses Pebecco Tooth Paste. For Pebecco is no more like an ordinary tooth paste than a rare and beautiful tea service is like cheap crockery. Its appeal is to those who demand the best in everything.

No other tooth paste contains the vital ingredient which comprises 40% of every tube of Pebecco. Why? Because it is too expensive! Furthermore, it would take away that candy-like sweetness of taste—the only claim many tooth pastes have to popularity. Pebecco does not try to tempt you with its flavor. It does not try to win you with its taste. But once you taste its distinctive tang...once you enjoy its cool refreshing after-taste...once you realize how clean and white your teeth have become...then you will understand why Pebecco is the choice of THINKING people everywhere. Try it—today...and feel the difference!

Pebecco is the MOST EXPENSIVE tooth paste in the world to make. Yet it costs you no more than an ordinary dentifrice.

Guilt of Mob Law Victims In Half of Lynchings in 1930 Questioned by Commission

Two of the 21 persons lynched in 1930 were certainly innocent, and 11 others possibly so, according to the report of the southern commission on the study of lynching, a summary of which was made public here Monday by the commission's chairman, George Fort Milton, president and editor of the Chattanooga News. Summarized, the main features of this report, the fruit of a year's careful study by the commission and its staff, are:

1. There is a real doubt of the guilt of at least half the victims of mob violence.
2. Less than one-fourth of persons lynched since 1890 have been accused of assaults upon white women.
3. Claim that lynchings are necessary because courts do not convict negroes for their crimes is found to be fallacious.
4. Mob leaders can be identified without difficulty, although grand jury indictments are seldom brought.

5. The rate of lynchings per 10,000 of negro population is highest in sparsely settled areas.

6. There is a direct relationship between lack of education, low economic status and lynching danger.

7. Lynchings have decreased from 235 in 1892 to the low mark of 10 in 1929, and to an average of 17 per year for the past six years.

In regard to the offenses for which lynchings occurred in 1930, the state-though on the scene, were wholly ineffective.

The commission found that, in proportion to negro population, lynching is commonest in thinly settled counties and in those with less than 25 per cent of negro population, rather than in the "black belt" and in population centers. In number of mob victims since 1880, it was pointed out that Georgia, Mississippi, Texas and Louisiana led with 465, 464, 394 and 349 lynchings, respectively. But figured on the basis of negro population, the percentage of lynchings was greatest in Florida, with Oklahoma, Arkansas and Texas following in order.

The fact was discovered that lynching, while decreasing rapidly during the last three decades, was becoming more exclusively a southern phenomenon, with 97 per cent of all the country's lynchings occurring in the south in recent years, as against 82 per cent in the south in earlier decades.

No Community Seems Immune. Eleven of the 1930 lynchings, it was found, took place in counties which had had none in 30 years. This fact the commission interpreted as indicating that no community is immune from mob violence and that good citizens everywhere should be constantly on watch for threatening situations. Many of 1930's lynchings, the commission declared, could easily have been prevented in this way. It pointed out that, in the decade ending with 1929, 448 attempts at lynchings were frustrated by the prompt action of officers and citizens.

The commission cited illustrations of what it termed "legal lynchings"—hasty trials and foredoomed convictions under mob pressure so great as to preclude all possibility of liberate and impartial judicial procedure. In some cases, asserts the report, officials had actually bargained with mobs, and had "bought off" the leaders with promises of speedy conviction and execution, promises sometimes carried out to the bitter end, even in the face of reasonable doubt of guilt of the accused.

United Condemnation of Lynching. Against this dark picture, however, the commission pointed out certain encouraging lights. One is the fact that lynchings have steadily decreased from the high tide of 255 in 1892 to the low mark of 10 in 1929, and to an average of 17 per year for the past six years. Another is the fact that the great religious bodies, the newspapers, and many influential individuals and groups are united in condemnation of the lynching habit. The commission announced that it also has under way a study of the existing laws affecting lynching and mob violence, and that at a later date the results of this branch of the work would be made public. One of the aims of the legal inquiry is the drafting of a proposed anti-lynching statute which if adopted would provide every state with legal machinery to bring effective punishment to those who take the law into their own hands through mob violence.

PENDING MURDER TRIAL
SEBRING, Fla., Nov. 9.—(AP)—William R. Carver, awaiting his second trial for the slaying of his wife, was released on bond of $15,000 today. He had been in jail since May 21, 1930, when he was convicted of first degree murder.

The supreme court recently granted him a new trial after once having upheld his conviction, and ordered his release on bond pending the second trial, set for February term of court in DeSoto county.

George Fort Milton, chairman of the Southern Commission on the Study of Lynching. Mr. Milton is editor of the Chattanooga News and a nationally-known author.

ment says: "One man was lynched solely because he had offended political opponents, and another to prevent his appearance as a witness in a serious court case against white men. In five of the other 11 cases, it was not clear that the mobs got the guilty persons, and in the other six there was doubt as to the truth of the charges against the men lynched."

In some cases, the commission found reason to suspect that the victims had been deliberately "framed" for purposes of concealment or revenge.

Concerning Crimes Against Women. "The popular opinion that most lynchings are for the punishment of crimes against women is wide of the fact," the commission's statement declared, "for of 3,693 persons lynched during the 41 years ending with 1929 only 23 per cent were accused of actual or attempted crimes against women, while 77 per cent were lynched for other offenses." Those who apologize for lynching as a necessary defense of womanhood, the commission maintained, "in reality doubly betray the southern woman, first in making her danger greater by exaggerating her helplessness, and second by undermining the authority of police and courts, which are her legitimate protectors."

The commission expressed its opinion that the claim that courts do not convict, often advanced as another excuse for lynching, was equally fallacious, for its investigations showed that, in 18 months ending July 1, 1931, 68 negroes were executed by law in the southern states and 470 were given life sentences. Eight of the executions were for rape, 57 for murder and three for other crimes.

Associated with Mr. Milton as members of the commission are Dr. W. P. King, book editor of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South; Dr. W. J. McGlothlin, president of Southern Baptist convention and Furman University; Julian Harris, news director of The Atlanta Constitution; Dr. John Hope, president of Atlanta University; Dr. Benjamin F. Hubert, president of Georgia State College; Dr. Charles S. Johnson, department of social science, Fisk University; Dr. R. R. Moton, principal of Tuskegee Institute; Dr. Howard W. Odum, of the University of North Carolina; Alex. Spencer, lawyer, of Dallas, Texas, and Dr. Monroe Work, of Tuskegee Institute. Dr. W. C. Jackson, vice president of North Carolina College for Women and chairman of the commission on interracial co-operation, and Dr. Will W. Alexander, executive director of that commission, are ex-officio members.

This group was appointed last year by the commission on interracial co-operation to undertake a careful study of each of the lynchings of 1930, a work completed only a few days ago by the trained investigators of the commission.

Defectives Among Those Lynched. In several instances in which serious crimes led to lynching attempts, the commission found evidence that the culprits were defective half-wits whom society, for its own protection, should long since have apprehended and confined. The report pointed out, however, that practically no public provision has been made for such protection and termed this state of affairs an inexcusable neglect for which the public pays the penalty in crime and insecurity.

The commission found also a probable connection between illiteracy and crime, instancing the facts that not one of the 21 mob victims of 1930 had as much as a high school education, only one had gone beyond the fifth grade, and 11 were totally or practically illiterate. This, according to the commission, suggests the fundamental value of better educational facilities in increasing the level of public security.

As a result of careful investigations on the ground, the commission asserted that, in most lynching cases, if observers had the will and courage to do it, there would be no difficulty in identifying mob leaders and members. Generally the mob members made little or no effort to conceal their identity; yet officers and others present in their midst usually testified that they recognized none of them. This attitude, the report declared, could be attributed only to "conspicuous or stupid." This type of local sympathy or intimidation, the commission continued, was largely responsible for the fact that indictments were returned in only six lynching cases in 1930, and that so far only four of the 49 men indicted have been convicted. The negro's political impotence was pointed out as a factor in the indifference of officers toward the resistance and prosecution of mobs.

Personnel of Mobs Discussed. Most of those whom the commission's investigators identified as probable participants in mobs were poorly educated, propertyless, and irresponsible, often unemployed and sometimes with court records. On the other hand, a number of those identified as mob members were found to be members of the churches, while a very few had some prominence in the community.

It was pointed out that officers from other counties, as well as stockade guards and other petty local officials, in some cases only complicated the situation and times directly or indirectly abetted the mob. The presence of curious onlookers often had the same effect, the report continued, pointing out that in some instances boys had been conspicuous, and sometimes women and children as well. In three cases the national guard,

Accidents That Never Can Happen

Accidents are expensive occurrences. Actually, they cost our country many millions annually. And, curiously, the great majority of these accidents are of the type that we are all convinced never can happen—to us.

There are the familiar automobile accidents. "We," of course, are careful drivers; always allowing a wide margin of safety for all contingencies. But sometimes no safety margin is wide enough to provide for that greatest of all road menaces, the "other fellow." And, all too frequently, the "other fellow" is of the irresponsible type—which means that we, the careful drivers, finance our own repairs—physical as well as material.

Then there are the home accidents. By the irony of fate, they occur most frequently to the quiet, domestic type of citizen who never feels quite safe and comfortable except when he is within the protection of his home. But—he runs downstairs to answer a telephone call—slips—and the sequel is six weeks in the hospital!

Accident insurance, as you know, can do much to soften the pain and ease the difficulties attendant on accidents. The Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company of California now offers a new, all-inclusive accident protection policy which covers the "human element" of the accident in its entirety—doctor's bills, hospital bills, nurses' bills, loss of time, loss of limb—even loss of life.

The Company has also prepared a special policy which is issued to women only, and which provides a loss of life benefit of $2,500 and in addition pays for necessary medical or surgical expense in connection with an accident. Do you know that the cost of this new form of insurance is entirely moderate, so moderate in fact that you can ill afford not to have it; that it can be secured without any medical examination?

If you will phone my office, or mail the coupon below, it will be a pleasure to explain the details of the protection which these policies offer.

ROOSEVELT REFUSES TO AID OWN CANDIDACY

Disregards Advice To Start
Now To Secure Convention Votes.

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt is disregarding advice from some democratic quarters that he move immediately to procure delegates for his possible presidential nomination at next year's national convention.

His attitude was made known today in answer to a query concerning suggestions made by friends that he move swiftly to assure himself of a delegation support which otherwise might be turned to others prominently mentioned for the candidacy.

The New York executive parried the question of newspaper men with a laugh and his customary reply that he was "too busy right here being governor" to give time to the presidential business.

Discussion of the advisability of initiative on the part of Mr. Roosevelt was revived with the recent visit to New York state of Senator Burton K. Wheeler, of Montana. Senator Wheeler was accompanied on his New York call by several Montana Democrats and while he did not talk with the governor himself he was understood to have had chats with several close political friends and advisers of Mr. Roosevelt.

Wheeler, a Roosevelt supporter, is viewed by New York democrats as representative of the attitude of his party in Montana toward the candidacy of the New York governor.

$50,000 DAMAGE SUIT
ALLEGES 'FRAME UP'

Charging that special officers of the railroad "framed" him, resulting in his indictment but his subsequent exoneration in superior court, R. W. Hendrix, of Luman Yards, Monday filed a suit for $50,000 damages against the Southern railroad, H. O. Davis and R. H. Milby.

The suit alleges that on February 28, Hendrix was walking along the railroad tracks in Luman Yards and was accosted by Davis, who inquired what he wanted in the yards. Hendrix, according to the suit, informed the officer that he was going home and that when he had walked away Davis shot him in the right leg and that he was allowed to lie in the mud and rain for an hour and a half before anything was done for him.

He also alleges that Milby placed by his side a double-barreled derringer which had been fired one time and that they then swore falsely before the grand jury to get him indicted on charges of assault with intent to murder, larceny of coal, carrying a concealed pistol, and possessing a pistol without a license.

The suit sets out that Hendrix was tried and acquitted on all four of the charges by a jury in Judge G. H. Howard's court. The petition asks $35,000 from the railroad and Davis jointly, and $15,000 from the railroad and Milby jointly.

FORMER ATLANTAN GETS 3-YEAR TERM

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 9.—(AP)—C. E. Black, alias Brace, a former accountant of Atlanta, Ga., pleaded guilty today in criminal court to one of three charges of forgery and was sentenced to serve three years in the penitentiary. He was charged with having cashed a forged check at the Carter Dry Goods Company and defrauded two other concerns here in a similar manner. Two of the indictments against him were filed away.

JOSEPH W. PIERSON DIES AT RESIDENCE

Joseph W. Pierson, 78, former contractor, died Monday afternoon at the residence, 734 Central avenue, S. W., after a three-week illness. He had been a resident of Atlanta for 27 years, and was a native of Ohio. Until eight years ago, when he retired, he was manager of the old Pierson & Hancock contracting and plastering firm, which was owned by his brother, J. F. Pierson.

Surviving him are his wife; three sons, William, Earl and Roy Pierson; his brother, J. F. Pierson, and one sister, Mrs. Frank Scott of Raleigh, Ohio. Funeral arrangements will be announced by Sam Greenberg & Company.

FLA. CORPORATION TAX IS STUDIED BY COURT

QUINCY, Fla., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Circuit Judge E. C. Love today took under advisement the question of the validity of a 1931 legislative act imposing an annual tax on all corporations doing business in Florida.

The case was argued here today by Assistant Attorney General H. E. Carter and by counsel for the Central Florida Lumber Company, a Minnesota corporation doing business in this state.

The act requires all corporations operating in Florida to file an annual report with the secretary of state and to pay an annual filing fee based on the amount of capital stock issued by the corporations. This tax ranges from $10 to $1,000 a year.

The Atlanta Bakers Club, at its weekly luncheon Monday, presented 100-cent pennies to Mrs. T. K. Glenn and Mrs. J. L. Dickey. The club was the first organization in Atlanta to have 100 per cent of its membership join the Penny Club and the pennies presented Monday represented a partial payment on its pledge.

When the bread makers of the city join so readily with Penny Club to help the unemployed this winter it may be truly said that "bread is the stuff of life." As the winter comes on the unemployed will have to lean more heavily on their "staff of life," the Atlanta Penny Club.

The first call that the emergency relief committee made on the Penny Clubs for funds to finance the "made-work program" was for $500; the second call was for $750 a week; the Penny Club answered both calls gladly. It is only a question of time until the amount will have to be increased if the unemployed are properly provided for. Fifty thousand people, giving only three pennies a day, will amply provide for all of the unemployed in Greater Atlanta.

Penny Club boxes are placed in all of the stores for your convenience. If you prefer to pay 90 cents a month or all in advance you may send your check to the Penny Club, 42 Edgewood avenue.

Leaders Map Atlanta's Armistice Day Program

Military leaders, some of whom are shown above, Sunday made initial plans for the huge parade to be held Wednesday in observance of Armistice day. From left to right those shown in the picture are R. J. Peterson and A. C. Kelly, adjutant and senior vice commander respectively, of Albany Post No. 1, American Legion; W. A. Sirmion, state adjutant of the Legion; Trammell Scott, commander Atlanta Post No. 1 of the Legion, and Governor Richard B. Russell Jr. The picture was snapped as various military units paid tribute to the flags of America, France and Great Britain at a demonstration at Piedmont park Sunday afternoon.

Leading Panaman Visits Sons Here
After Attending Washington Meet

Dr. Ramon Arias, prominent citizen of Panama, who was among the Latin-American delegates at the fourth Pan-American Commercial Conference recently concluded at Washington, was in Atlanta Monday visiting with his two sons, students at Georgia Tech and Emory University.

The possibility of enhancing trade relations between Panama and Atlanta and other southern centers was suggested by Dr. Arias. He is keenly interested in commercial aviation and believes that it offers a practical means for developing contact between Atlanta businessmen and Panama.

Panama is only 15 flying hours from Miami and the trip is a beautiful and pleasant one," Dr. Arias stated. An excellent opportunity for Atlanta businessmen to visit our country will be provided by the special trip being arranged for the new "American Clipper," this country's largest plane, which is scheduled to be piloted by Colonel Charles Lindbergh, leaving Miami on November 17 and carrying 20 passengers.

"There is no reason why the south cannot do more business with Panama," Dr. Arias said. We would welcome any visit from Atlanta businessmen. Panamanians are great admirers of the traditions of the south. We have many students in the colleges of this section. Mayor Galindo, of Panama, has two sons studying in Atlanta, and I have my sons, John B. Arias, studying law at Emory University, and George Arias, studying architecture at Georgia Tech.

Dr. Arias is a close relative of Francisco Arias P., recent secretary of state, who is one of the three candidates for presidency in the coming elections. The incumbent president of Panama, Ricardo J. Alfaro, has done much to place Panama in good financial condition and is a great friend of the United States, Dr. Arias stated.

Dr. Arias will fly from here to Miami Wednesday morning. From there he will continue by airplane to Panama, via Havana.

Experiments Have Aided Control of Many Human Ills, Convention Speaker
Says.

"With the diminishing importance of the horse in this age of automobiles, medical work of veterinarians among other animals has become more specialized and intensive, resulting in a correspondingly increasing benefit for mankind as a whole."

This statement was made Monday by Dr. H. Preston Hoskins, secretary of the American Veterinary Medical Association, here to attend the annual convention of the southern branch of the association at the Ansley hotel.

The intimate relationship between animal and human diseases, especially those of parasitical form, is rarely understood. The experiments and actual knowledge of the veterinarian in the field of vaccines have resulted in control and in some instances elimination of many human diseases," the well-known veterinarian said.

The Southern Veterinary Medical Association will conclude its two-day convention at the Ansley hotel with a business session today. Dr. J. R. Hopping, of Atlanta, is president of the organization. A banquet Monday night brought the first day's program to an end. The southern association plans to serve as host to the American Veterinary Medical Association at a national convention to be held here in August.

G. O. P. JUDGE REBUFS PARTY IN NEW YORK

Attempt To Realign State's Districts Over Governor Halted.

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 9.—(AP)—The New York republican party's effort to procure court sanction of its legislative attempt to realign New York state's congressional districts without the concurrent action of the democratic governor met a rebuff Sunday from the first court to consider the case.

A supreme court justice, himself elected to the bench on a republican ticket, ruled against the attempt in denying an application of the republicans for a court order to provide for a congressional election on the basis of the concurrent resolution adopted last spring by the republican-controlled legislature.

The supreme court justice, Ellis J. Staley, in effect, held that a reapportionment of the state's congressional districts could be made only by enactment of a law—passage of a bill by the legislature accompanied by approval of the governor—and that this had not been done when the legislature adopted the resolution which was not subject to Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt's action.

The republicans turned to the resolution form of redistricting the state after the democratic executive had threatened to veto the measure if it appeared on his desk. In addition to the democratic administration's contention that the reapportionment was not in accord with state and federal law, the democratic party politically opposed the measure on the ground that the establishment of new district lines in New York city wavered so as to include strong republican areas.

The reapportionment increased the state's representation from 43 to 45.

$2,300 for Old Sayings

The proverb answer is.....

No. 65

Name

Street address, box or rural route number.....

City..... State.....

Don't let this picture "stamp" you. If you cannot recall the old saying that fits it, or any of the other pictures of the series, call at the office of The Constitution and obtain one of the helpful and valuable reference lists of 2,000 proverbs. Or a copy of this interesting list may be had by mail by writing to the Proverb Editor, The Atlanta Constitution, Atlanta, Ga., and enclosing a two-cent stamp for return postage.

Instructions.

The total prize money to be awarded Proverb Contest entrants is $2,300. The first prize is $1,000; the second, $500; the third, $250; the fourth, $100, and the fifth, $50. The supplemental prize consists of ten prizes of $25 each and fifteen prizes of $10 each. There is no charge to take part in the contest and it is not necessary for contestants to register. There are no subscriptions to get, and nonsubscribers are invited to take part. There will be no tie-breaking series of pictures and no extra work will be required. The correct answers are what count. The proverb pictures and answers are not to be submitted until all of the pictures have been published.

Path to $2,300 Easily Found By Proverb Seekers Who Try

Back Pictures for Extra Sets May Be Had; First 15 Are Free.

BY THE PROVERB CONTEST EDITOR.

"If at first you don't succeed, try, try again" is a proverb you've heard for years. It's popular because it gives practical advice. If you have been unable to seek out the answers for some of the pictures in The Constitution's game of old sayings, keep on trying. Honest effort will bring a blast of good luck out of the way and smooth the path to one of the $2,300 in cash prizes.

A number of contestants have asked the proverb editor whether the pictures are becoming more difficult to solve. They aren't. Many of the answers for the remaining pictures can be located as quickly as the answers for some of the earlier ones. Of course, not all of the solutions are apparent at first glance—if they were, many ties and many disappointments would result.

Several readers have asked for information about the two types of reprints of back pictures. This explanation should prove enlightening:

Information on Reprints. Regular reprints: These are pictures from No. 1 to No. 15, printed on newspaper stock. They are free for the asking at the office of The Constitution—or by mail, for a 2-cent stamp. A contestant may have as many copies of these pictures as he or she desires, without cost or obligation.

Special reprints: These are pictures from No. 1 to No. 64, printed from the original plates on smooth, white paper. The special reprints will be made available as quickly as the pictures appear in The Constitution. Until, finally, all of the pictures of the series may be obtained on this high-grade paper. The special reprints were made so that contestants who decided to submit several sets of pictures could fill out their extra sets with them, if they were not able to get duplicates from copies of The Constitution delivered to their friends and neighbors. These special reprints are also handy for contestants who have lost, misplaced, torn, soiled or destroyed any of their pictures.

The special reprints, which, by the way, will take pen and ink readily and present a handsome appearance, are 5 cents apiece when bought singly. Five cents is the price of the individual issues of The Constitution in which the pictures were published. Any eight of the special reprints may be had for 30 cents—or any 40 of them for $1.25.

Distribution of Prizes. The $2,300 in The Constitution's proverb contest will go to readers who submit the largest number of correct solutions for the series of 80 pictures, regardless of the appearance of their sets. However, should two or more contestants tie with the same number of solutions, the judges will consider neatness of the sets, as explained in the rules. In the event of a tie for the first prize of $1,000, or one of the other 20 prizes, the special reprints will, of course, present a neat and attractive appearance, and might, therefore, be instrumental in giving one of the tying contestants the prize tied for.

The Constitution still has many reserve copies of the free list of 2,000 proverbs, containing many but not all of the correct answers. The list can be obtained by calling at the office of The Constitution—or by mail, for a two-cent stamp.

Questions and Answers

Write Legibly—That's All.

Question: Will you please let me know if it is satisfactory to write the proverb answers with a pencil? Mrs. M. C. D., Chattanooga, Ga.

Answer (To Mrs. D., and to E. N. W., Eatonton, Ga.; Mrs. W. C. C. Barnesville, Ga., and other contestants who have asked similar questions): The proverb answers may be written with a pencil, pen and ink, typewriter, or in any other legible way. Those who fill out their answers with a typewriter need not sign their names in ink.

Just Mail Them. Question: "Next week I am leaving for a trip to Wisconsin, and will not be back before the first of the year. I maintain a permanent home in Atlanta. It will not be possible for me to get the last few pictures until after Nov. 30 has been published. Then, if I mail my set in, you will probably not receive it until after December 1. Will I be disqualified because of this?" Mrs. B. P. P.

Answer: Your set will be accepted, provided it bears the postmarked date of December 7, or before.

Timely Advice.

"I have been in a good many contests, but I am enjoying this one best of all. I notice some contestants ask about a book on how to win contests. There is no other book than 'Proverbs of All Ages.' A close study of it and the pictures will win. Also I see where one contestant says 'Those that are not highly educated do not have a chance.' She should not be easily discouraged. An education helps, but does not make the eyes keener. If every ship was deserted that sprung a leak there would be no ships. I advise every one to use the tools they have to the best advantage. Now a blast of good luck out of the way and sure she finds it hard to think up the pictures to fit some proverbs, and she gives up some hard ones. But that's all right. They can be found. Thank you for a contest that gives any one with a keen mind and a good eye an opportunity to win. I am not claiming a prize, but 'At the end of the game you'll see who's the winner.' H. W. E. Jr."

CONTEST INFORMATION.

Anonymous letters from contestants who ask interesting questions frequently cannot, because of limited space, be answered in this column. Contestants can only be assured of a reply when they sign their names and addresses. Only their initials will be used if their questions are answered here.

Contestants may feel free to consult the proverb editor at any time by mail, personal or by telephone, using Walnut 5565. He will gladly answer reasonable questions.

The official contest book is "Proverbs of All Ages." It includes all of the correct answers. Contestants are not asked to buy this publication, but if they desire, a copy may be had for 50 cents at the office of The Constitution—or for 54 cents by mail.

For the convenience of contestants who have lost, misplaced, soiled or mutilated any of their pictures, a new supply of duplicates is being kept on hand. These duplicates, printed on heavy white paper, will take ink without blurring, are 5 cents apiece. Five cents is the individual price of the issue of The Constitution in which each picture was published. Any 8 pictures can be had for 30 cents. The price of half a set (from No. 1 to 40, inclusive) is $1.25. These back pictures are available at the office of The Constitution or by mail. Mail orders for the pictures should be accompanied by 2 cents extra for postage.

Ends Piles Quick

No Salves—No Cutting
Your itching, bleeding, protruding piles will go away when you actually remove the cause—bad blood circulation in the weak, flabby parts—and not one minute before. Salves or cutting can't do this—an internal remedy must be used. HEM-ROID, prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonard, succeeds because it stimulates the circulation, drives out congested blood, and restores the almost dead parts. HEM-ROID has such a wonderful record right in this city, that Jacobs' Drug Stores say one bottle of HEM-ROID Tablets must end your pile agony or money back.—(adv.)

Key Demands Change in Dry Laws In Talk Before Jacksonville Group

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Mayor James L. Key, of Atlanta, declared here tonight conditions in this country have become so "deplorable" because of prohibition that "it is high time the people rise up in revolt and demand a change."

Addressing a Junior Chamber of Commerce meeting, Mayor Key said, "There is more general drinking today, even among our most respectable people, than ever before" and that "those who do not drink look upon the prohibition law with absolute complacency and do nothing about it."

He suggested government sale of liquor as a solution for the present economic problem and said such a procedure would be a "service to humanity."

He estimated that under such a plan between $2,000,000,000 and $3,000,000,000 a year would be added to the federal treasury, effecting a "tremendous saving to the taxpayers" and providing a means of alleviating economic conditions.

"It is up to the people themselves to provide a solution," Mayor Key said. "It is time for the people to stand up and say we are not going to stand for it any longer."

"With all our prosperity, our country is in despair. It has been stripped as naked as a jay bird by so-called experts and politicians. We should take the matter in our own hands and tell the politicians to go to hang."

"Respectable people do not have any respect for the prohibition law. We are sapping the morals of the people by trying to enforce it. We are doing harm to our people and the sober minded people should rise up and put a stop to it."

In advocating government sale of liquor, Mayor Key said the country is sovereign and that the prohibition law could not keep the government from engaging in such business.

"I tell you the government should step in and reap the harvest that is and fiery eyes attracted Nicholas from the first moment. But when he made up his mind that he must marry her and went to the king for royal assent, his brother flatly refused to sanction a wedding. Prince Nicholas, reminding Carol that it was he whom the king had to thank for his dramatic and triumphant enthronement in June, 1930, turned on his heel and departed angrily.

The quarrel was prevented from developing into an open breach through the mediation of Finance Minister Argetolano, but observers in court circles predicted that Prince Nicholas sooner or later would make another attempt to realize his romance.

Children Hurt.

BELHAVEN, N. C., Nov. 9.—(AP) Six children between 7 and 15 years of age were injured today when a large school bus overturned near here. The driver attributed the accident to the dense smoke, settling from a large forest fire in the Gump swamp district.

Diarrhoea Dysentery

Hemorrhoids and all other bowel troubles are most successfully treated with Ferrac. It relieves promptly and permanently, heals and is antiseptic in the highest degree.

As an appetizer it is without a peer, insuring the proper digestion and the fullest assimilation of food, constituting an invaluable tonic for all convalescents.

FERRAC

Ferrac is a combination of Ferric and ferrous sulphate of iron and other minerals so powerfully concentrated that dilution is necessary before taking. It is a natural prescription, compounded by nature so perfectly that artifice can never approach it in beneficial results.

How to Lose Fat a Pound a Day on a Full Stomach

Do Just These Two Simple Things

Fat Melts Away

Science has made important discoveries in fat reduction. The average fat person can now rip off fat a pound a day—four to seven pounds every week!—on a full stomach, with never a hungry moment. Thus it is foolish now to stay fat.

This is what you do: Take a teaspoonful ordinary Jad Salts in a glass of water a half hour before breakfast every morning. This reduces moisture-weight instantly. Also cleanses the system of the waste matter and excess toxins that most fat people have, and banishes puffiness and bloat.

Then do this about eating. FILL YOUR STOMACH—eat your fill—of lean meats, vegetables like spinach, cauliflower, cabbage, tomatoes, etc., and lots of salads. Eat a lot. Eat all you can hold. Don't go hungry a minute! Cut down on butter, sweets and desserts, bread. Eat any fruit for dessert.

That's all you do. Fat seems to melt away. The coarse lines of overweight give way to the refined ones of slenderness. You lose as much as a pound a day. You feel better than fat people. For in this treatment you are urged purely as a poison-banishing agent—not as a reducing. The change "The diet takes off fat with food that turns into energy instead of weight. If you're tired of being embarrassed by fat, try this way. You'll be glad that you did. You can get Jad Salts at any drug store.

*Note particularly—the salts are urged purely as a poison-banishing agent—not as a reducing. The change "The diet takes off fat with food that "I suffered greatly from ugly pimples on my face. They were large and red and itched most all the time, and when I scratched them they would scale over. I was very much ashamed to go out with other young girls. I could not sleep well for nearly a year.

"I tried many remedies but the pimples only became larger and sometimes made worse eruptions. A friend advised me to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment and after using two cakes of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was healed." (Signed) Miss Bessie Davis, Rt. 4, Athens, Texas.

The Marriage Racket

INSTALLMENT XIX.

"I can understand that we're being eating vile cooking for nothing. What's the use of having a woman who can't cook or clean if you don't trust her with the baby, anyhow?"

"All right. Suppose I did leave him with her. How could we be sure that she'd stay?"

"Yeh, only six weeks, Irma."

"All right, we won't go."

"But you can go. I want you to go."

"Thank you."

"There's no need of being nasty, Wallace. I can't help it if I'm the sort who worries, can I?"

"I suppose not. But it seems so senseless. The baby's healthy and Rose is good to him and careful of him."

"There's no use starting it again, Wallace. It's something beyond you. You go to Europe and have your trip and everybody will be satisfied."

"I wouldn't go without you."

"All right. Don't go. Make things as difficult as possible."

He laughed shortly. "You're in a swell position to say that," he remarked.

"O, Wallace, please don't be so nasty. Would you like it if I galivanted about all the time and never gave the baby a thought?"

"Considering your years it would at least be something I could understand," he said. "Anne was a good mother, even from your standards, but I'll be damned if she left off being companionable and reasonable just because Mildred was born."

"It's unfair to compare me with Anne. I know something about her. I haven't lived with your aunt for two years without knowing that Anne was a cold-blooded woman. You can say all you like about Anne being a sensible mother, but I know that she was too damn cold and cold to get excited over anything that happened to you or Mildred. Anne didn't even want Mildred. I wanted my kid. Throw Anne at me again and I'll tell you some more."

He was walking swiftly toward the stairs, giving no sign that he was aware of the pale, angry girl he had left behind in the living room. She watched him till he had disappeared up the stairs, then in weary dejection she flung herself on the divan to weep.

As early as breakfast the following morning Irma voiced her contrition for having spoken rudely of Anne. Wallace, never too good humored at that hour, granted his acceptance of her apology. Nothing was said on the subject of Europe. Irma hoped that nothing more would ever be said on the subject. It was strange then that she should be the one to revive it after it had lain dormant for more than a week.

All during that time Wallace had been extremely kind but very silent and distant. Irma knew that her hard words about Anne had been forgiven and forgotten. It was Europe that was torturing his soul. The fog of London, the Parisian boulevards and the gay adventures of overseas had been rudely snatched from him. At first Irma was inclined to be scornful of the childish obviousness of his disappointment. A man should have a philosophy to fall back upon or at least a sense of gameness to keep him from wearing his blighted hopes on his coat lapel. He mentioned Europe no more and Mildred and Aunt Tessie had dropped "when you go away" from their chatter. He had evidently told them that the trip was off.

Irma had never seen the matter from Wallace's viewpoint till the day she went rummaging through the bureau. Her object was to find a garment tattered enough to be converted into dust clothes. Under Wallace's starched shirts she found some unfamiliar articles which she took from the drawer and sat down to examine. One was a tiny English-French dictionary, two were maps of Paris and London, another was a small leather bound diary whose cover bore the gift words, "My Trip Abroad." She raised her eyes from the little objects and stared ahead of her into space. God, how he had wanted that trip. She felt very selfish and wicked. Wallace had looked forward to that trip for years. It was important to him. She tried to compare it to some desire of her own and found that none of her desires were comparable. Holding the little diary in her hand it was somehow easy to bridge the gap of two long years and see Wallace again as the pleasant man who had called for her at the stage door and who had not tried to maul her. He was so sweet and the ambition of his life was to see Europe. She smiled faintly. It was such a silly ambition for a man like Wallace.

Now her ambitions were different. He was past 40 and a six weeks' trip was his dearest wish. She was 21 and her only desire was to raise her son successfully. She felt a moment's elation over the deeper, more serious quality of her mind.

She arose and replaced Wallace's belongings in the drawer. She stood for a moment lost in thought. Poor Wallace. It was a shame he couldn't have his trip.

Aunt Tessie appeared in the doorway. "Find anything we could use, Irma?"

"What? O, the dust clothes. No, I didn't. Mildred'll be home soon and I'll send her out for some cheese cloth."

"Mildred isn't coming home till dinner time today."

"Why, the Malcolms' chauffeur is teaching Jane to drive and Mildred went with them to watch."

"She did? Lord, that sounds dangerous. Maybe Jane will wrap the car around a tree or drive into a stone wall."

Tessie's thin, pointed chin went up in a sudden defiant gesture. "I thought of that," she said. "But Mildred wanted to go and Jane was set on having her. I'm not one for spilling everybody's plans just for the sake of having my own way. The Lord said there should be no other gods before Him and when we go loving somebody so much that we don't care who else we hurt or disappoint, then God himself is going to hurt that someone we love." Aunt Tessie took a breath and looked at Irma.

Irma looked back at her and said, "I sure gave you a swell opening to say what you had on your mind, didn't I? Well, God's word gathers no dust clothes. I'll go get them."

Irma had never before spoken so flippantly to Aunt Tessie. There was no disrespect intended now. The insolence of her words was meant only to still the sudden pooling of her heart and banish the cold, tight feeling in her lips.

Aunt Tessie said, "Yes, you can laugh, Irma. She went back to her own room then."

Irma sat down on the bed and thought about God. Would He deliberately strike at a little defenseless baby just because he had kept Wallace from going to Europe? Irma forgot about the dust clothes. For an hour she sat trying to remember all she had ever heard about God and wondering what He was most likely to do in a situation of this sort.

She remembered the English juggler who had played on the bill with her in Pittsburgh. He assisted him, handing him props and laughing at his witticisms when the audience didn't. They had a baby. It was in a place called Nottingham. Irma recalled that the girl in the sketch had asked the juggler's wife if she didn't worry about the baby.

"Not half so much as I'd worry about Harry," she had answered. "Jugglers after the baby, but He'd never bother His head about a chap like Harry."

Now was that a clue? Did God look after the Nottingham baby because his mother had not worshiped it before everything else in the world? And did He gather unto Himself all children who were so highly prized that there was room for no one else? Perhaps He did. Perhaps some day terrifyingly soon He would say to the Angel of Death, "Fetch me Baby Martin Graham. His mother is making life miserable for Wallace and Mildred on account of him."

Good Samaritan Campaign, To Stimulate Trade, Opens

Headquarters Opened and Many Inquiries Are Reported; Churches, Charities To Share Prizes.

The Good Samaritan buying campaign is under way.

Campaign headquarters opened Monday morning at 137 Peachtree Avenue, street level floor, telephone Main 0442, and if early inquiries indicate anything the Atlanta campaign, designed to provide a business stimulus for a large number of local merchants as well as national advertisers, will get off to a good start, in the opinion of the campaign manager.

Letters explaining the plan to give away $6,000 in cash during the next six months to churches and charities which may be interested in sharing in a division of the money were sent out Saturday, together with blanks for official nomination. The sending in of the blanks entitled the organization thus nominated to receive a bonus of 10,000 votes, which would be lost to the particular organization if merely the casting of the first vote constituted the nomination.

The campaign manager will maintain hours from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. for the first week of the campaign, so as to make it convenient for all who are interested in the campaign to get the details to get additional information any hour of the day by personal call or telephone.

More than 50 merchants whose participation made possible this opportunity for churches and charities of the city to share substantially in the distribution of $6,000, carried their advertisements on the Good Samaritan page which appeared Saturday and which will continue to appear each Saturday for a period of 26 weeks. Others are expected to join in the movement during the present week, the first of these being the Biltmore hotel and the Ivy Street garage.

Churches and charities entering to assist in serving the manifold purposes which the campaign offers, will have an opportunity to share material benefits on the basis of buying and voting the evidence of these purchases which are designed as vote tokens. One vote for each cent of expenditure is fixed as the vote value and the evidence of vote tokens take the form of sales slips, cash register receipts, cartons, labels or bottle caps, as the case may be.

Churches and charities are urged to enter as quickly as possible. No restriction is placed on the disposition of such money as may be earned by the churches or charities, either in the sharing of $130 in weekly prizes or in the $2,750 in grand capital prizes at the close of the campaign.

POPPY DAY SUCCESS IS URGED BY SCOTT

Trammell Scott, commander, Post No. 1, American Legion, Atlanta, Monday issued the following statement on Poppy Day:

"The American Legion relief fund is made possible each year by the sale of poppies Armistice Day by ladies of the American Legion Auxiliary, assisted by other civic, social and patriotic organizations. Each dollar derived from the sale of these poppies is spent in Atlanta to aid service men and their families who are in distress. "The need is more urgent this year than ever before. As commander of Atlanta Post No. 1 of the American Legion I bespeak for the worthy undertaking the full measure of success it so richly deserves."

ROBOT AT MUSE'S ATTRACTS CROWDS

Hundreds of passersby were attracted in front of the display windows of George Muse Clothing Company Monday by a robot that writes, draws and talks.

The robot, beautifully gowned, is titled "Miss Marvell McAnnell," and is under the management of Joe Green, who assembles the intricate piece of mechanism. The robot was built in Germany at a cost of $50,000.

The robot was built especially for the makers of Foot Saver shoes, and has been sent by the manufacturers to principal cities throughout the country. From Atlanta the mechanical masterpiece will be taken to New York for the big fall show.

"Miss McAnnell" devotes her time in the show window to writing bits of news about Foot Saver shoes, handed in Atlanta by the George Muse Clothing Company, and interspersed at times with cartoons. The exhibit will remain in the window until Friday night.

TICKET SALE OPENS FOR DON COSSACKS

When the sale of seats for the concert Wednesday night of the Don Cossack Russian chorus opened Monday at the Davidson-Paxon store, one of the first patrons in line was Mrs. Anna Brenner, of 636 Barnett street, Northeast.

"We heard the Don Cossacks several years ago, at Frankfurt-on-the-Main in Germany," said Mrs. Brenner, "and we never dreamed we should hear them again here at home. Atlanta has never heard a chorus which even approaches the Cossacks' singing."

Demand for seats on the first day of the sale assures a representative audience at the auditorium Wednesday night.

FRENCH LINE NAMES NEW MANAGER HERE

Appointment of Philip L. Lutz as manager of the Atlanta office of the French line was announced in New York Monday by Felix Lachensee-Hende, assistant general manager of the company in America.

Mr. Lutz succeeds Berne L. Tighe, who has been promoted to general agent of the Buffalo, N. Y., office. He has been with the French lines in New York for seven years, having received a succession of promotions to the post of booking manager here.

held prior to his new appointment. Before joining the French line, he had been Paris agent for the New York firm of Borgfeldt, nationally known importers who have represented Atlanta department stores, among others, in the Paris market.

Mr. Lutz said that no change would be made in the personnel of the Atlanta office, Miss Marian Fisher remaining as office manager. Mr. Tighe will leave within the next week to assume his new duties. He has been in charge of the Atlanta office for three years.

3 DELEGATES NAMED TO CAROLINA MEETING

Governor Richard B. Russell Jr. Monday afternoon named the official delegates who will go with him to attend the conference of governors representing the four cotton and tobacco-growing states to be held Thursday in Charlotte, N. C.

The governor named Eugene Talmadge, commissioner of agriculture, E. C. Westbrook, cotton and tobacco specialist at the Georgia State College of Agriculture, and J. M. Purdom, tobacco expert, of Blackshear, Georgia.

This group will go to Charlotte in response to the invitation of Governor O. Max Gardner, of North Carolina. A round-table conference of similar groups, headed by governors, from South Carolina, North Carolina and Virginia.

En route to the Charlotte meeting, which is expected to determine the question of special legislative sessions in North Carolina and Georgia, Governor Russell will stop at Elberton Wednesday morning to greet Elberton county legionnaires and again at Hartwell to deliver an Armistice Day address at the dedication of a memorial to Nancy Hart.

WHEELER URGES NEW MONEY BASE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Senator Wheeler, of Montana, came back from Europe today to advocate a return to bimetalism and express opposition to cancellation of war debts unless armaments are reduced.

The Montana democrat who attended a meeting of the Interparliamentary Union, said what impressed him most abroad "was that all countries are loaded up with great standing armies."

"Most of them are absolutely unable to maintain them except by borrowing more and more," he said. "Many are borrowing from France, who is loaning because she wants to control them for political purposes."

"They are not much more than vassals of France and have to vote in the League of Nations and other international conferences as France tells them to do."

"I would not favor cancellation of debts unless it was accompanied by some positive agreement to reduce armaments of all kinds, because it would merely mean that France would be able to loan more money to build up the armies and navies of Europe."

GOOD-WILL CONGRESS OPENS IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—(AP)—The 16th annual good will congress opened today.

Sponsored by the World Alliance for International Friendship Through the Churches, the three-day congress had for its theme: "Disarmament—Peace and Prosperity."

The congress' guest of honor at its annual banquet tomorrow will be Jane Addams, of Hull House.

On the speaking program are Hon. Von Prittwitz, German ambassador to the United States; Congresswoman Ruth Bryan Owen, United States Senator Thomas J. Walsh, Canon T. Guy Rogers, of England; Dr. S. Parker Cadman, and Dr. John Haynes Holmes, pastor of the Community church, New York city.

BNAI BRITH LODGE TO MEET TONIGHT

Gate City Lodge No. 144, Bnai Brith, will meet in the Standard Club, 400 Peachtree street, N. E., tonight. Dinner will be served at 6:30 o'clock and the business meeting will be held at 7:30.

The lodge will have as its speaker Dr. Witherspoon Dodge, who will talk on "Modern Philosophy." The ladies of members of Bnai Brith and their friends are invited to the meeting.

1442 MILLER AVENUE NOT SUSPECT'S HOME

The woman whose name was given as Mrs. M. W. Wallace following her arrest in connection with a series of interstate express robberies does not live at 1442 Miller avenue, N. E., and is not known to the people living there, it was stated Monday. United States Commissioner E. S. Griffith said Monday that the woman's name was first given as Mrs. M. W. Wallace, but that it was corrected later to Mrs. N. M. Wallace.

Negro Is Wounded. A negro man who gave his name as Tom Gamble, of a Marietta road address, was shot through the abdomen early Monday morning after a hand-to-hand fight with H. R. McCarty, night watchman of the Coker & McBride Boiler Company, who discovered the negro hiding in the company building at 300 Marietta street, according to police reports. Gamble was carried to Grady hospital, where he was said to be in a critical condition.

Ann Pennington Settles Suit Involving Her Age

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Just what the price is for mentioning in the public prints that a woman is getting along in years remains a mystery, but a price there is and in the case of Ann Pennington it has been paid.

The actress recently brought suit against Lever Brothers, soap manufacturers, and the J. Walter Thompson Advertising Agency for $100,000 for printing an advertisement in which she was quoted as saying "I really am 30 years old."

Today her attorneys obtained court permission to withdraw the suit on the ground that settlement had been reached. Miss Pennington had charged that the advertisement meant her age up to "she is getting along in years" and hurt her with the public. The nature of the settlement was not revealed.

FINAL TRIBUTE PAID TO SENATOR CARAWAY

JONESBORO, Ark., Nov. 9.—(AP) Thaddeus H. Caraway, United States Senator famous for the vigor with which he advocated or opposed national legislation, was buried today with the highest honors accorded his residence and the state at large could bestow.

Hundreds of neighbors, friends and acquaintances filed through the First Methodist church this morning, where his body lay in state for two hours, to get a final glimpse of the man who once served as the city's prosecuting attorney and thereby came to be known as "Fighting Thad" long before the nation heard of him as a fighter.

Nearly every one prominent in the public life of Arkansas was among the throng that came to pay him final tribute.

Funeral services were held at the church and then the body was borne to the cemetery nearby.

The service at the church was conducted by Rev. J. A. Anderson, presiding elder of the Methodist Episcopal church in the Jonesboro district. The senator's widow and their three sons, Paul, Forrest and Robert, sat near the casket.

Six of Senator Caraway's colleagues in the senate attended the service. They were Senators Pittman, of Nevada; Frazier, of North Dakota; Broussard, of Louisiana; McKellar, of Tennessee; Brookhart, of Iowa, and Robinson, of Arkansas.

Governor Harvey Parnell headed a delegation of state officials.

Floral designs from far and wide filled one end of the church. One of the largest was sent by the senate. As the cortege moved to the cemetery, a company of national guardsmen led the way.

All was in striking contrast to the simplicity of the senator's life. After his death in a hospital at Little Rock, following an operation for a kidney ailment, his body lay in state in the capitol there for several hours as a military guard of honor stood watch.

Last night the remains were brought here by train. National guardsmen stood at attention in the railway station, formed a military escort to the Caraway home and remained on guard throughout the night.

Expressions by political leaders have disclosed increasing favor for the proposal that the democratic state central committee nominate the senator's widow to succeed him.

Justice William F. Kirby, of the Arkansas supreme court, who was defeated for re-election to the senate by Caraway in 1920, issued a statement today in which he urged the nomination of Mrs. Caraway to fill out the unexpired term of her husband.

Rock Throwers Precipitate Riot On Ohio Highway

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio, Nov. 9.—(AP)—A score of persons were injured slightly and 50 automobiles were damaged in a riot on the Atlantic and Pacific highway four miles west of here late yesterday.

County officials said the riot started when five men in an old automobile had a breakdown and were unable to stop other motorists to obtain aid. Officials said they started throwing rocks through the windshield of automobiles that failed to stop.

More than 200 motorists and residents of Stony Run, where the attack occurred, attacked the men and three of them were apprehended immediately and severely beaten. The other two were arrested today.

More than 100 automobiles blocked the highway after the shover of rocks had been thrown on about 50 machines, breaking windshields, door glass, headlights and denting radiators and fenders.

The three men first arrested were taken to the hospital ward where they were treated for cuts and bruises all over their bodies.

ARK. TOWN RAIDED, 1 SHOT, 1 ABDUCTED

PARKDALE, Ark., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Clinton Cockrell, night watchman, was shot and killed and Town Marshal Copeland was kidnapped and taken for a ride late Sunday night by three men, believed to have been planning to rob the Parkdale bank. The crooks escaped.

The three men, according to W. M. Locke, deputy sheriff at Hamburg, Ark., drove into Parkdale, supposedly from Portland, Ark., near here, captured Copeland and endeavored to capture Cockrell.

Cockrell resisted the efforts of the three men. Deputy Locke said, and instead of throwing up his hands when they commanded him to do so, he reached for his gun. They fired on him, one bullet striking in the hip and neck and another in the shoulder.

Cockrell, despite his wounds, returned the fire and the men fled.

They drove out of town in the direction of Moberly, Mo., and Copeland out on the highway about seven miles from that city and escaped.

NEW DEVELOPMENTS MADE IN AIR COOLING

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Nov. 9.—(Special).—Achievements of local engineers of the Franklin Automobile Company in attaining increased compression and power without increase in engine size have attracted the attention of the entire engineering world. Important visitors from foreign countries, as well as from all parts of the United States, have been visiting the Franklin factory in increasing numbers, all eager to learn about Franklin air-cooling principles which have made such achievements possible.

At a recent meeting of the Society of Automotive Engineers, the engine session was given over almost entirely to a discussion of air cooling.

Franklin engineers state that there are no limits to air cooling power development—that cylinders in the form of a V, H or an X may be air-cooled quite satisfactorily.

Air cooling as worked out by Franklin also permits increased compression without overheating of cylinder head and valves, and it is an engineering axiom that the more a given charge of gasoline can be compressed before ignition the greater will be the power developed from the charge.

Franklin's long researches in the behavior of air currents have resulted in a solution of the problem of controlled cooling for the entire engine. In the Franklin car the air cooling system provides the exact degree of cooling for each part of the engine according to the temperatures that give greatest efficiency. Certain areas of the engine that produce highest efficiency through heat are left hotter than those areas that function best when all excess heat is carried away.

Due to their expert understanding of the control of air currents Franklin engineers have been able to make their latest airplane type engine deliver the largest power increase thus far recorded in the automobile industry.

Negro Arrested.

John Phillips, negro, of a McDaniel street address, who was found hiding behind a rack of coats early Monday morning in the Leader Department store, was arrested by police on a charge of suspicion. He had gained entrance to the store through the roof, police said, and had pilfered a quantity of clothing on the floor when caught by Simon Bressler, manager.

Negro Gets Life Term.

Julius Jackson, negro, was given a life sentence Monday afternoon by Judge G. H. Howard when he was found guilty on a charge of murder. The negro was charged with the murder of his wife, Nora Jackson, in September. The verdict of guilty carried with it a recommendation for mercy which automatically carried the life sentence.

Young New York Woman Kills Self by Gas Blast

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Miss Elizabeth Bates Volk, 23 years old, who was engaged to Prince Johannes, of Liechtenstein, in 1926, committed suicide today in a manner so spectacular that thousands of persons were attracted to the scene of her death. She was the granddaughter of Mme. Domica Da Gama, widow of the former Brazilian ambassador to the United States, and the daughter of socially prominent Mrs. Guy Milhouse.

Writing a brief note disposing of her possessions to a friend, Miss Volk took to the gas in her apartment in the fashionable Beekman Hill section of the midtown East Side. The accumulation of gas was ignited by the pilot light of the kitchen range, and the resultant explosion was of such force as to shatter windows in other apartments of the large building. Manhattan residents a mile away heard the detonation.

ITALIANS TO FORM NEW CREDIT BODY

ROME, Nov. 9.—(AP)—The council of ministers, with Premier Mussolini presiding, decided today to organize a credit institution on practically the same lines as that recently established in the United States by President Hoover.

It will have a capital of $26,000,000 and its purpose is to release the frozen assets of banks and to assist Italian industry.

Half the capital is to be contributed by government savings and loan institutions and the other half by banks which will receive 5 per cent interest. The organization will be under the supervision of the finance ministry and its president will be selected by the premier.

GRAND JURY TO HEAR POWERS CASE TODAY

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Thirty-two witnesses are to be called before the Harrison county grand jury tomorrow, when it takes up the case of Harry F. Powers, 42-year-old matrimonial agent, accused of the murder of two women and three children.

The bodies of the victims, Mrs. Anna Buick Elcher and her three children, of Park Ridge, Ill., and Mrs. Dorothy Pressler Lemke, of Worcester, Mass., were found buried in a ditch near here last summer.

At present Powers is held in solitary confinement in the state prison at Moundsville, where he was removed when a mob threatened him here in September.

For Deep Coughs You Need the Safest Help

Cremulsion is not the cheapest help for coughs or colds. It is made to do the utmost whatever the condition. It combines in one prescription seven of the world's best helps. It is made in particular for coughs and colds which hang on. There is where one dare not risk a help of lesser value. But it is wise in any cough to trust a less effective help? Creosote is in it, blended, emulsified and tasty. In an ideal way it presents the supreme help for soothing membranes and combating cold germs. But there are also white pine tar, wild cherry bark, menthol, ipecac, etc. Each is best for some coughs.

Here we combine all major helps to fight coughs to the limit from the start. Because of this expensive combination, Cremulsion costs a little more than lesser helps, but your druggist guarantees it. He returns your money if you ask for it. A three-day cough is a danger signal. There you must use Cremulsion to be sure. But it is wise to trust any cough to lesser help when the utmost is at your command? You never know where a cough may lead. Treat it with the best men know. CREMULSION for Difficult Coughs and Colds

Gray Hair

Best Remedy is Made At Home

To half pint of water add one ounce bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and one-fourth ounce glycerine. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. It imparts color to streaked, faded or gray hair and makes it soft and glossy. Barbo will not color the scalp, is sticky or greasy and does not rub off.</

CLARKE DENIED APPEAL FOR TRIAL DISMISSAL

Charges Against Liberty Sheriff Upheld by Federal Court in Savannah.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Sheriff Marvin F. Clarke, of Liberty county, and Edgar Peyton Way, indicted on charges of conspiring to violate the prohibition laws, were denied motions in federal court here Monday for dismissal of the case and a severance of trial.

Judge William H. Barrett dismissed both motions and ordered the joint trial to proceed.

The dismissal motion was asked on grounds that the indictment was faulty but the judge ruled it was clear enough for its meaning to be distinguished.

District Attorney Charles L. Redding said several others indicted with Clarke and Way are still fugitives.

In selecting the jury, five talismen were excused because of their answers to questions asked them by the prosecution.

C. C. Stewart, the first government witness, testified Sheriff Clarke had been paid money for assistance to run runners in landing cargoes on the coast in Liberty county.

Stewart said an "agreement" had been made to pay the sheriff $300 for each cargo. Stewart was wounded last summer when Clarke's officers attempted to seize a truck load of liquor in the county. The district attorney said Stewart had been promised immunity by the government.

G.F.A. RAILROAD PLACED IN HANDS OF RECEIVER

MACON, Ga., Nov. 9.—(AP)—The Georgia, Florida and Alabama railroad, operating from Richmond, Ga., to Carrabelle, Fla., has been placed in the hands of receivers on petition of Fred L. Fuller, Cleveland, Ohio, bondholder.

Charles Akerman, attorney for the railroad, said the order by Federal Judge Bascom S. Deaver was a temporary bill which would permit an adjustment of affairs by the G. F. & A. with the receiver of the Seaboard Air Line railway, lessors.

Mr. Fuller's petition said the line's indebtedness to him is $225. He alleged liabilities totaled $116,250.

Judge Deaver appointed Philip Weltner, Atlanta attorney, and Leon S. Freeman, New York, as receivers. The road, under lease to the Seaboard since 1927, formerly had a woman as its president. Mrs. Cora Williams held that post until her death about 15 years ago.

FALL INJURIES FATAL TO BAINBRIDGE WOMAN

BAINBRIDGE, Ga., Nov. 9.—Mrs. Elizabeth Hillman Jester, 82, widow of Leroy Adolphus Jester, died here today following injuries she received in a fall several weeks ago.

Mrs. Jester moved to Bainbridge from Buena Vista, Ga., 32 years ago following the death of her husband in 1887. Funeral services will be held in Buena Vista Tuesday morning. She is survived by four daughters, Mrs. J. C. Duncan, of Prattville, Ala.; Mrs. Minnie Golucke, Mrs. Grace Moore and Miss Colie Jester, all of Bainbridge; two sons, W. M. Jester and J. E. G. Jester, both of Bainbridge.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Nov. 9.—(AP)—R. F. Weston was called to court Monday to stand trial in the slayings of Joe Kent and W. T. Strickland, a boat in Warsaw south September 25.

Minor Dempsey, attorney for Weston, indicated he would plead self-defense. Kent had ten children and Strickland five. Weston, after the two had been slain by a shotgun, charged said they had beaten him and threatened to throw him overboard.

$1,000,000 Bond Election Indicated for Macon

MACON, Ga., Nov. 9.—(AP)—A million-dollar municipal bond issue election on or about December 15 seemed assured Monday when straw ballots on the proposal were estimated to make a total of about half the city's registered vote of 2,651, with 10 percent or less unfavorable.

Preliminary surveys of the straw ballots already received by the committee from registered voters indicate the full proposal of the committee has the approval of nearly all voters. The plan is to issue bonds totaling $1,000,000, repayable out of annual revenue without increasing taxation. The money would be divided among the following projects: Storm sewers, $400,000; sanitary sewers, $200,000; Spring street bridge, $200,000; paving, $100,000.

Mr. Touchstone was born in Fulton county, but came to Floyd county when a young man and resided at Floyd Springs until about seven years ago when he moved here and has been connected in the lumber business since that time.

STATE DEAF SCHOOL TO ERECT INFIRMARY

ROME, Ga., Nov. 9.—Trustees of the Georgia School for the Deaf at Cave Spring have called for bids on the erection of a new infirmary on the school grounds, the bids to be opened November 24 by a committee from the board of trustees.

The building will be constructed by an appropriation of $50,000 made by the 1929 legislature. The funds, however, were not available at that time and became available, in part, only through the recent sale of the W. & A. rentals. It is on this basis that the trustees of the institution are proceeding on the work.

Professor J. C. Harris, of Cave Spring, superintendent of the school, will receive the bids for construction, according to plans and specifications prepared by Edwards and Sayward, Atlanta architects.

Rome Man Arrested For "Theft" of Own Car

ROME, Ga., Nov. 9.—A peculiar "theft" has been uncovered by Rome police and officials of the underwriters' association and has resulted in the arrest of two men, one of them charged with "stealing" his own automobile.

Two weeks ago A. A. Stansell, who resides near Rome, reported to police that his car had been stolen. The theft was reported to the underwriters' bureau but no trace was found of the car until recently when it was discovered in Atlanta in possession of Stansell, a brother-in-law of Stansell, the owner.

Pye denied the car was stolen, stating that it was brought to Atlanta by Stansell for repainting and left in Pye's possession. Pye was brought back to Rome and Stansell was arrested. Police are of the opinion that Pye's story is true and he will likely be released unless further evidence is forthcoming.

Stansell, however, is being held under a blanket charge of attempting to cheat and swindle the underwriters' association by trying to collect insurance on the "stolen" car.

M'DOWELL ADDRESSES ALABAMA MEETING

Hog Growers Urged To Develop Industry and Expand Markets.

OSARK, Ala., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Growers and packers of peanut fed hogs in the southeastern states met here Monday to consider means of developing their industry and expanding their markets.

A principal speaker on the program was H. McDowell, manager of the Swift & Co. plant at Moultrie, Ga.

This, McDowell said in a paper prepared for the meeting of the Southeastern Peanut Pork Association, is "the most favorable time we have ever had to expand our hog business because of the low price of hogs. Also cheap labor and because it appears feed marketed through hogs will give us as high or higher income per dollar of investment as from any other southern farm product."

The packer told the hog growers the southeast was losing money every year by importing 75 percent of the pork it consumes. He said his own plant would gladly handle four times as many hogs as it now buys, if they were spread out more through the year and not, as at present, nearly all marketed in the winter months.

"We believe," he said, "that under proper management live stock can be produced here as cheaply and of as good quality as in any section of the country. Considerable progress has been made since 1915."

McDowell warned the growers against production of the old type hog which he said had "gone out of style" through loss of the European markets for lard. He said his company wanted the "modern meat type," with no preference on breed.

The speaker said the peanut pork was a delicious meat of superior flavor and, perhaps, to be one of the world's most renowned food delicacies. He pointed out, however, that it does not command the full market price and will not do so until "consumers are acquainted with its pleasing flavor and texture."

TURNER FUNERAL RITES HELD IN COVINGTON

COVINGTON, Ga., Nov. 9.—Funeral services were held here Monday for N. S. Turner, 68, president of the Covington mills and a cotton buyer, who died here Sunday.

As one of the pioneers of Covington and Newton county, Mr. Turner opened his office here over 40 years ago. He was active in all civic affairs and public welfare. Mr. Turner took a leading part in charity work.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by five daughters, Mrs. V. B. Rogers, of Covington; Mrs. R. O. Arnold, of Athens, and Miss Louly Turner, of Covington; a son, N. S. Turner Jr., of Covington; and two grand children, Julia Rogers and N. S. Turner III. Interment was at West View cemetery.

POWER LINES MENACED BY FIRES IN FORESTS

FLOYD HIGH COURT TO HOLD EXTRA TERM

ROME, Ga., Nov. 9.—A special session of Floyd superior court will be held here from November 30 to December 5 to dispose of a large criminal docket, which has been untouched during the past two terms of court. Judge James Maddox will preside over the special term.

The extra session of court was necessary as practically no "bond" cases have been tried during the past two terms of court.

FACEVILLE MERCHANT HURT IN AUTO CRASH

FACEVILLE, Ga., Nov. 9.—Judge W. J. Wingate, prominent merchant here and for several years justice of the peace, was seriously injured Monday afternoon, when the car which he was driving struck a truck loaded with logs a few miles from the Florida line.

He suffered severe cuts about the face, a broken leg, two broken ribs, and possible internal injuries. He was rushed by ambulance to a local hospital where attendants stated that the full extent of his injuries has not been determined. Judge Wingate has been in bad health for a number of years.

$3,000 DAMAGE CAUSED BY FIRE IN SUMTER

AMERICUS, Ga., Nov. 9.—Damage estimated at $3,000 was caused by fire at the C. M. Council Wheatley farm, near here, when a barn was destroyed Sunday night. Besides the barn, a quantity of farm machinery, including a tractor, valued at about a thousand dollars, was destroyed.

About a thousand bushels of corn stored in a crib near the barn was saved through the efforts of the farm workers and Americus firemen. The Americus "booster" fire apparatus was rushed to the farm after several trips had been made to the city to secure water.

State Deaths And Funerals

MRS. SUSAN A. ELLIS. GAINESVILLE, Ga., Nov. 9.—Funeral services for Mrs. Susan A. Ellis, 81, who died Sunday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Charles L. Newton, were held Monday afternoon from the residence, conducted by Dr. William H. Laprade Jr., pastor of the First Methodist church. Interment was in the cemetery. Antioch, near here.

Mrs. Ellis was born and reared at Walhalla, S. C., but had made her home in Gainesville for about 30 years. She was a member of the Methodist church for more than half a century.

She is survived by three sons, John H. Ellis, of Atlanta; Charles W. Ellis, of this city; Herbert Ellis, of Asheville, N. C.; four daughters, Mrs. Charles L. Newton, of this city; Mrs. W. W. Mann, of Young Harris; Mrs. J. M. Bradford, of Manchester; and Miss Beale Ellis, of Washington, D. C.

MRS. ANNA GRIMSLEY. COCHRAN, Ga., Nov. 9.—Mrs. Anna Theobald Grimsley, 88, former postmistress here and active in church work, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. T. S. Vinson, here Sunday afternoon. A large crowd attended funeral services in the Cochran Methodist church this afternoon, and the body was sent to Eastman for burial.

JOHN M. McELHANNON. WINDER, Nov. 9.—John M. McElhannon, 76 years of age, died at his home near here Sunday morning. Mr. McElhannon was an extensive farmer and one of the most widely known and influential citizens of Barrow county. He was born and reared near Gallies in Jackson county, but moved to this section about 40 years ago.

Funeral services were held from the Gallies Christian church in Jackson county at 11 o'clock Monday morning. The Rev. John A. Wood, pastor of the Winder Christian church, officiating, with interment in the churchyard.

Rome Firemen Lead Preparations To Care for Needy on Christmas

ROME, Ga., Nov. 9.—For the sixth successive year, "The Gang" is planning to see to it that Santa Claus does not forget the children of the rural districts of Floyd county on Christmas Day.

"The Gang" is composed of members of the Rome fire department and a group of other Romans, who each year collect discarded toys from the last Christmas, old stock from local merchants and broken playthings, repair and repaint them and send them to the poor children in the rural districts of the county. The distribution is done by the rural mail carriers of the Rome and other Floyd county postoffices by special permission of the postmaster-general of the United States.

With Christmas Day less than two months away, "The Gang" has already started work and a number of toys have already been received and made good as new. This year, recognizing the need for other things than toys, this group is planning to include clothing in its Yuletide gifts to the youngsters. Appeals are being sent out over the county for wearing apparel as well as toys.

Last year more than 2,500 toys were distributed by the firemen and mail carriers and "The Gang" plans to exceed that figure this year. In addition to the toys sent out each year, a pair of stockings donated by a Rome hosiery mill, and fruits and candy donated by other Rome merchants is included in the Christmas packages which are sent out to the needy. The repairing of the toys, filling the stockings and other work necessary to prepare the gifts for distribution are all done by the firemen without pay.

Prominent Visitors Arrive To Attend Porter-Orr Rites

Prominent visitors will be numbered among the guests attending the marriage of Miss Augusta Tinsley Porter and Frederick William Orr, which will be a brilliant social event of Saturday evening, taking place at 8:30 o'clock in North Avenue Presbyterian church. Mrs. A. Sedden Jones, of Richmond, Va., arrived here last Sunday by airplane, and Mrs. Rutherford Rose, her daughter, Miss Irene Rose, and her son, Samuel Rose, arrive in Atlanta tomorrow from Richmond, Va. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Porter and their daughter, Miss Claire Porter, of Huntington, W. Va., and Mrs. Howard Porter, of Charleston, W. Va., will form a congenial party motoring to the city and expect to reach Atlanta next Thursday. All of the aforementioned visitors are relatives of the lovely bride-elect, and will visit Mr. and Mrs. Russell Porter at their home on The Prado in Ansley Park.

Dr. and Mrs. Jeff Davis, of Decatur, will motor here next Friday and will visit Mr. and Mrs. Alfred C. Newell at their Clifton road residence in Druid Hills. Judge and Mrs. R. T. Orr, of Athens, arrive this week to visit Mrs. Philip Weltner at her Piedmont road residence.

Among other Athenians motoring over Saturday to attend the Porter-Orr rites will be Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hodgson, Miss Emily Upson, Miss Esther Upson, Judge and Mrs. J. D. Bradwell, Judge and Mrs. J. E. Greene and Dr. and Mrs. Willis Bowcock. Dr. and Mrs. Hartwell Joiner, of Gainesville, will arrive Saturday to attend the marriage of Miss Porter and Mr. Orr.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert's Guests Entertained.

A round of informal social gaieties were given Sunday honoring Mr. and Mrs. Elliott White Springs, of Fort Mill, S. C.; Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Hecksher, Julian Stanley and Mr. Bushnell, of New York, and Roland Ellis, of Macon, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Robert. At noon these prominent visitors were entertained at luncheon at the Piedmont Driving Club by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Whitehead, at which covers were placed for the honor guests and a few close friends.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Becker were hosts at a small tea at their home on West Andrews drive in the late afternoon, complimenting Mr. and Mrs. Robert's visitors.

In the evening Howard Conway entertained Mr. and Mrs. Robert and their guests at a waffle supper at the Piedmont Driving Club, the guests numbering a few close friends of the host.

This group of out-of-town guests returned late Sunday evening to their homes, after having been entertained extensively during the week-end.

Mrs. Dickinson To Honor Visitor.

Mrs. Ingram Dickinson will be hostess at a bridge-tee Wednesday at her home on West Wesley avenue, honoring Mrs. Charles Fleetwood, of Charlotte, N. C., the guest of Miss Katherine Craighead. The guests playing bridge will include 12 close friends with a few additional friends coming in for tea.

Members of Atlanta Woman's Club Celebrate 36th Birthday Anniversary of Organization

Left, Mrs. William P. Dunn, president of the Atlanta Woman's Club, and right, Mrs. A. McD. Wilson, beloved former president of the club, who were photographed yesterday at the 36th birthday celebration of the club. Mrs. Wilson is the oldest living president of the Woman's Club and during the club's pioneer years she was largely responsible for its growth and the development of the broad program which has increased with the years. Assisting in the birthday celebration yesterday which followed the club's November meeting was Mrs. Alonzo Richardson, also a former president of the club. Photograph by Bill Mason, staff photographer.

Following the monthly meeting of the Atlanta Woman's Club held yesterday afternoon at the clubhouse, the members assembled in the banquet room for the celebration of the club's 36th anniversary. Mrs. Alonzo Richardson, past president of the club, was in charge of the birthday ceremonies and was assisted by Mrs. A. McD. Wilson, oldest living past president of this well-known organization, and other past presidents. A beautifully decorated birthday cake adorned by 36 tiny burning candles graced the tea table and other decorations were suggestive of the occasion.

Mrs. William P. Dunn, present president of the club, presided over the business meeting that preceded the celebration and was assisted by Mrs. Victor Kreisgaber, first vice president. Reports were made by officers and chairmen and Mrs. Arthur Allen, newly-appointed chairman of entrance cards, was introduced.

Mrs. J. Hinton Clark, the club's chairman for raising funds for the Community Chest, reported that the club is bending every effort to meet its obligation toward this worthy cause. Mrs. Clark announced that Mrs. J. B. Francis Herreshoff, prominent member of the club, headed the Chest's subscription list with the splendid donation of $500.

Mrs. J. B. Francis Herreshoff, the club's chairman of affiliations, gave an excellent report of her recent trip to Yorktown, Va., where she was the representative of the Atlanta Woman's Club at the sesqui-centennial celebration held there in October. She gave an interesting account of the luncheon she attended on Nation Day, given in honor of President Hoover, General Petain and General Pershing. An important feature of the celebration, interestingly described by Mrs. Herreshoff, was the dedication by Secretary Wilbur of the colonial monument which includes the battlefield of Yorktown, a part of Williamsburg, and the Jamestown island. Mrs. Herreshoff gave a brief resume of other outstanding events of the celebration, and concluded her report with a description of the "spend-the-day" party given in her honor by Mrs. Granville Valentine, of Richmond. This affair took place at Stratford-on-the-Potomac, the home of Robert E. Lee, and was, according to Mrs. Herreshoff, one of the memorable occasions of her trip.

The home economics department, of which Miss Fern Snider is chairman, was in charge of the program which opened with several musical selections, arranged by Mrs. Mary Griffith Dobbs, who presented Miss Margaret Battle, well-known singer and instructor of voice, who was accompanied by Miss Helen Battle.

Miss Snider presented a unique and interesting program which included a demonstration made through the courtesy of Rogers, Incorporated, of M. C. Smith, market supervisor of the Rogers stores. Mr. Smith exhibited various cuts of meat which are less expensive than the majority in demand and explained how, by proper cooking, these inexpensive cuts, which are nutritious, may be made as tender and palatable as any other cuts. Following the demonstration the cuts of meat were given as prizes by Rogers, and booklets on cooking were also distributed.

Mrs. Clark To Give Recital This Evening

Georgia chapter of the American Guild of Organists opens its series of organ recitals this evening at 8 o'clock, presenting Mrs. Victor Kreisgaber, recital at Peachtree Christian church, assisted by the Peachtree Christian quartet and antiphonal choir. Mrs. Clark's work as organist of the Christian church has been outstanding for some 10 years.

The program is interesting and varied, maintaining the high standards upheld by the guild. The quartet is composed of Mrs. Hugh M. Atkins, soprano; Mrs. James H. Whitten, contralto; John Panter, tenor, and Frank M. Charlton, baritone. Members of the antiphonal choir are as follows: Sopranos, Mesdames Charles Warner, leader; Paul Parsons, Richard Wile, Ethel Merrill, Ada Leavitt, Gladys Cobble, Louis Maffett, Harris Robinson, Misses Leslie Saxe, Christine Stephens, Connie Freeman, Lucille Jenkins, Elizabeth Turner, Neil Turner, Susie Spinks, Blodwyn Davis, Frances Charlton, Lucy McNabb, Flora Neely, Ollie Neely, Mary Maffett, Valeria Leonard, Vera Glenn, Eleanor Bishop, Zella Sorrell, Marion Johnson, Frances Barrett, Betty Redfern and Frances Darrow; contraltos, Mesdames Cecil Stockard, leader; Mesdames Elsie Sheldon, Ivy House, Nan McKinstry, Catherine Mason, Fred Hannah, Foster Prather, Misses Mable Charlton, Esther Harris, Virginia Cox and Zella Webb.

For Miss Raine.

Miss Mamie Raine, debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph S. Raine, was honor guest at the luncheon given yesterday by Mrs. Robert W. Davis and Mrs. Rix Stafford at the Capital City Club. The table was adorned with a plateau of pink roses, and the place cards were hand-painted in butterflies. Covers were placed for a group of intimate friends of Miss Raine and included Miss Margaret Pillet, of Dallas, Texas; Misses Harriet Wyane, Nancy Frederick, Catherine Flacker, Elizabeth Thompson, Jaquelin Moore, Ida Nevin, L. Nise Moore, Sarah Sharp, Anne Ridley and Elizabeth Moorman, of Oklahoma City, Okla.

Miss Jane Sharp To Be Honored.

Miss Eleanor Keenan will be hostess at luncheon Monday, November 16, at the Piedmont Driving Club in honor of Miss Jane Sharp, debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Sharp. The guests will include a group of the debutante set.

Founders, Patriots Hold Meeting

Georgia Society of the Founders and Patriots met Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Walter Tomlinson on West Peachtree street. Mrs. Joseph M. High, state president of the society, presided over the business session. Mrs. Tomlinson had charge of the social program. The subject chosen was Italy. Mrs. Bert Tyler, of Dalton, read an interesting and instructive paper on "Modern Italy," dealing principally with Premier Benito Mussolini. She gave a vivid description of his early training, splendid accomplishments and the power he wields today.

George Washington's boyhood and a visit to Sulgrave Manor in England was the subject of an interesting paper by Mrs. Katharine Conner. "The Strife Pina" and "Norman Folks" were the titles of two entertaining readings given by Mrs. Hugh Dobbins. She also gave an account of her visit to the Yorktown celebration in Virginia.

Mrs. Tomlinson introduced her co-hostesses, Mrs. Bert A. Tyler, Mrs. Katharine Conner, Mrs. Allen P. Davis, Mrs. Thomas C. Mell and Misses Ruth Peck and Martha Tomlinson.

Y. W. C. A. Organizes Southern Bell Group.

The Y. W. C. A. announces the organization of a Southern Bell Telephone Company group in the business girls' department, with Mrs. Lucille Kelly as chairman. This group will meet Tuesday evenings and enjoy recreational interests of the Y. as well as fellowship among employees. Serving as chairman of the group will be Miss Sarah Terrell, secretary, and Mrs. L. Austin, treasurer.

Various committees have been appointed to plan classes and programs which will make the "Bell Division" one of the most active groups in the Y. At present classes in tap dancing, swimming and drama are offered, with others added as requests are presented. One hundred girls from the general accounting department, the auditor's office, the toll building, the Y. W. C. A. in foreign fields, Miss Alice Rivers, of the North Avenue Presbyterian school, will conduct the worship services of the S. I. S. P. club Tuesday evening at 6:30 o'clock. Students from Russia and China will be guests of honor and will bring a short message about customs in their native lands, according to Miss Virginia Harrison, president.

Judge, Mrs. Colquitt Hosts at Tea.

Miss Augusta Porter and Frederick William Orr, whose marriage takes place this week, were honor guests at the tea given Sunday by Judge Walter T. Colquitt and Mrs. Colquitt at their home on Habersham road. Miss Julia Colquitt, daughter of the hosts, poured coffee and Mrs. Preston Armstrong Jr. presided at the tea table. The guests included a number of friends of the honor guests.

Miss Gardner Gunby Is Honor Guest.

Miss Gardner Gunby, popular debutante, was honor guest at a tea given Sunday by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Holland at their apartment on Peachtree road. Mr. and Mrs. Holland and Miss Gunby were assisted in receiving by Miss Rosalind Gunby and Miss Camilla Holland. The guests included 20 friends of the honor guest and hosts.

Bridge Tournament To Be Conducted By Mrs. Foster

Mrs. Annie Adair Foster, widely known authority on contract bridge, will conduct a permanent series of bridge tournaments at the Atlanta Woman's Club, and the next tournament takes place Wednesday, November 18, at 2 o'clock. Reservations may be made by calling the club at Hemlock 4636 or Hemlock 4637.

Among those registering for the series of tournaments includes Mesdames St. Elmo Massengale, Paul Reid, A. H. Latham, S. T. Stringfellow, Norman Sharp, H. G. Hastings, E. V. Carter, J. B. Reservations may be made in pairs or by tables and it will be necessary for each player to have definite partner for each afternoon.

Announcement of plans for this series follows the splendid success of the first tournament conducted at the club by Mrs. Foster, November 3, at which Mrs. J. R. Little, prominent clubwoman, was in charge. Proceeds of the first tournament went to the Fine Arts department of Atlanta Federation of Women's Clubs. Mrs. Foster is successfully conducting other similar tournaments although this one is the first to be opened to the

Miss Ruth Key and Mr. Butler Will Be Married Wednesday

The marriage of Miss Ruth Key, only daughter of Mayor James L. Key and the late Mrs. Ella Tullman Key, to William Monroe Butler, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Butler, will be quietly solemnized Wednesday evening, November 11, at 8:30 o'clock, in the study of Rev. Louis D. Newton, pastor of Druid Hills Baptist church, who will officiate, the ceremony to be witnessed by immediate relatives and a small group of intimate friends.

Mayor Key will give his daughter in marriage and Miss Mary Black, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Black, and a classmate of the bride-elect at Girls' High school, will be maid of honor and the only attendant. Charlie Smith will act as best man for Mr. Butler.

Bride's Costume.

The lovely bride-elect has chosen for her wedding costume a gown of light blue satin trimmed with black wool, fashioned with long sleeves, the gown being of an exceedingly stylish model. A becoming hat of black felt, a shoulder bouquet of orchids and a black coat, offset by a pointed fur, will complete her striking costume.

Miss Black will wear a gown reflecting the shades of Spanish tile.

Wedding Journey.

Mr. Butler and his bride-to-be will depart after the ceremony on a two-week motor trip through Florida, with Miami as their destination. Upon their return to Atlanta they will reside in the city.

side at the Garner-Wallace hotel on Ponce de Leon avenue. For traveling the future Mrs. Butler will wear a navy blue ensemble.

Miss Key was enrolled in the sophomore class at Wesleyan College in Macon, and her engagement was announced the early part of this fall, the wedding being scheduled for February, 1932, and she only decided quite recently to be married this week. Cordial interest of a host of friends centers in the marriage of Miss Key and Mr. Butler, who are popular and beloved members of the younger set of society.

Mr. Butler was graduated from Tech High school and attended Oglethorpe University. He is connected with his father in the contracting business in Atlanta.

Georgian Terrace Assembly Dance.

The assembly dance at the Georgian Terrace Wednesday evening will feature Armistice Day celebration and will have decorations appropriate to the day, consisting of flags, poppies and red, white and blue bunting. The orchestra will play patriotic airs during the intermission and dancing will continue until 12:30 o'clock. A number of the army contingent from Fort McPherson have made reservations, entertaining guests from Fort Oglethorpe and Fort Benning, who will celebrate Armistice Day here. Miss Margaret Pillet, of Dallas, Texas, the attractive guest of Miss Mamie Raine, will be honor guest in a party which will include several of this season's

College Park Music Club Will Present Program Wednesday

An interesting program featuring the compositions of Mrs. Bonita Crowe will be presented at the meeting of the College Park Music Club Wednesday afternoon, November 11, at 3 o'clock, at the Woman's Club auditorium. Mrs. Crowe, artist-composer-author, is one of the most distinguished women in the south. Versatile, talented and naturally a leader, she has reached great heights in her accomplishments. She is past president of the Mississippi Federation of Music Clubs and has the honor of having composed the state song, which will be presented in quartet form on the program Wednesday. Mrs. Crowe is at present organist and choir director of Grace Methodist church, president of the Atlanta branch of the League of American Pen Women, and dean of the Georgia Chapter of the Guild of Organists.

Taking part on the program will be Mrs. Margaret McMillin, soprano; Mrs. Louisa Wicker Allenworth, Miss Senta Mueller, violinist; Mrs. M. Griffiths, harpist; Clarence Wall, tenor; Miss Evelyn Hicks, Mrs. Troy Roper, Mrs. Sarah Horne and Mrs. Roger Martin.

Miss Eloise Olds, third vice president and program chairman, will sponsor this special program. Preceding the program a very short business session will be held with the president, Mrs. Clarence Wall, presiding. New members will be welcomed.

Debutantes and their escorts. The dance will be chaperoned by Mrs. Edward King Van Winkle. Mrs. Stacy Earnest Hill and others.

FRIENDLY COUNSEL

BY CAROLINE CHATFIELD

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

DEAR MISS CHATFIELD:

Is it a son's duty to take care of his parents and his brothers and sisters when he has a family of his own and no money but a very small salary? Since I was 15 I have been self-supporting. I now have a wife and small children. My father's health has failed and he cannot work. The older brothers and sisters have been well educated, but they have stayed at home and let father support them. Now he is down and out and they want me to take them in and do the same for them that he has done. My wife refuses to take them in, but says she recognizes our duty to look after my father and mother and youngest sister. What is a man to do under such circumstances?

ANSWER:

You have no problem at all. Your wife is within her rights when she refuses to divide her living with grown brothers and sisters-in-law who are competent to make their own way in the world. She has shown herself to be not only magnanimous, but generous to a degree when she recognizes the duty to take your father and mother and younger sister into her home. No man has a right to ask more than that of his wife. According to your own statement your father is dependent because of the inroads made on his resources by these same worthless brothers and sisters. Any woman who would allow her husband to saddle her with a fool and the man who would be willing to saddle her with a knave.

Sentimental values are not to be denied, but where they cut athwart the dictates of common sense they must be discarded. A man working for a small salary, supporting a family of his own doesn't get an increase when he announces to his boss that his father and mother and sister have come to live with him. But, mark it, his wife's labor is doubled. She has to do more work to make for the inroads on her salary. She has to do more work to keep the swollen household within the bounds of its financial bank. She not only has the work to do, but she has a larger, and less congenial task, in all probability, that of perpetual entertainment of the visitors. She may have no load of congeniality with her husband's family, yet she must treat them as though she had. She may be doing without something she needs and wants, to give them food and shelter. Any resentment she feels for that circumstance must be hidden, and the inlaws must be made to feel that the sacrifices their presence entails amount to nothing. The woman lifts the load to her head when the inlaws come to live with her and her natural life she must walk so as to keep the load balanced on her head.

For that reason, if for no other, she should have the deciding voice and vote as to how many of them take up their abode with her. It behooves a man on another score to let his wife decide such a momentous question. If he brings people into his home against his wife's will he pays for it as long as they are there. Peace and harmony are an end in themselves, and relations between him and his wife are poisoned. She cannot be natural and loving and affectionate if she feels that she has been wronged by her husband. She naturally develops a feeling of jealousy toward the persons that are responsible for his riding rough-shod over her. Now how can he be happy in his own home? Can't he?

Lastly a man owes a duty to his little children that should never be sacrificed to any foolish feeling of duty to grown brothers and sisters. If they were ill, or crippled, or incapacitated, then he might have a qualm about setting them adrift. But surely he couldn't feel any hesitancy in giving first consideration to the wishes of his wife and the necessities of his own little ones, who have nothing but what he gives them.

Culbertson on Contract

BY ELY CULBERTSON,
World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

Danger, Beware!

Those who have read my views on Bridge are well aware that I always prefer opening with a suit bid, and the hand contains a possible sound suit bid. The primary reason for this purpose is that through these Approach bids suit distributions can be felt out and the best declaration decided upon through the exchange of information between partners. Of course, there are many hands containing sufficient honor strength to justify an Opening bid which do not contain a biddable trump suit and in such cases an Opening notrump bid is made as a choice of evils. The other choice would be to pass, which with the requisite honor-trick strength ordinarily would mislead partner and prove a losing course. However, Opening bids of notrump, especially when vulnerable, should be carefully considered, taking into consideration the possibility that partner's hand may be trickless. In such cases, an original notrump bid implies the lack of a biddable suit, the losses may be more severe, even if not doubled. If doubled and the remaining honor strength is massed against the bidder, the losses are quite apt to be staggering.

Today's hand is a case in point. Both sides vulnerable.

The Bidding:
(Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

South West North East
1NT (1) Dbl. (2) Pass Pass (3)
Pass (4)

1—Due to the absence of high intermediates, South's hand is probably a better pass than a bid vulnerable. The hand offers no escape if North's hand is a bust.

2—With three strong four-card suits and 4-1-2 honor-tricks, West's Takeout Double is absolutely sound. His hand is so strong that there is a probability of game or a serious penalty against opponents if they go on.

3—A very fine pass, as East feels sure he can contribute 3 or more tricks, but is quite confident that his holding will not be complemented by club strength in West's hand.

4—South has no escape. The even distribution of his hand makes it unwise to increase the contract as there would seem to be no opportunity to utilize his fourth diamond for ruffing purposes with his distribution.

West opened the diamond King and when, on the second round of it, East discarded the spade deuce, West knew that East's penalty pass of his double must be based upon strength in clubs. When East showed out of diamonds, South took the trick as there was no purpose in holding off. His hand was hopeless and the best he could expect was to make 3 to 4 tricks with it. He, therefore, led a small spade which was won by West. He would have been well advised to have taken the Ace before relinquishing the lead. West, after cashing his two diamonds, led the deuce of clubs. On East's remaining five clubs West discarded the Ten of hearts, then his remaining spades and finally the four of hearts, completing the echo. When the clubs were run, East led a heart and West took the remaining tricks.

Thus, South made only 1 trick on his contract to take seven, although, of course, he could have made his spade Ace had he anticipated the extent of the impending disaster.

TODAY'S POINTER.
Question: What three variations of hand values must the player learn to estimate?

Answer: (a) Its value at own bid. (b) Its value in support of partner's bid. (c) Its value against opponents' bid.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

PETER HAS A SURPRISE.
BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Surprises may be good or bad; Make you sorry; make you glad.

While little Mrs. Peter and Molly, the pretty young rabbit who had come to live in the Old Pasture, were talking the black shadows had crept out from the purple hills, over the Old Pasture and across the Green Meadows and the dear old Briar-patch.

"My goodness, it is almost time for that silly old fellow who calls on me every night to arrive!" Molly exclaimed.

"Where does he meet you?" asked Mrs. Peter.

"Right here," chuckled Molly. "I wait for him right in this bramble-tangle. You ought to see him."

"I would like to," replied Mrs. Peter dryly.

Just then there was a loud impatient thump in the bushes not far away. It startled Mrs. Peter, but Molly appeared to have been expecting it. "The poor dear has awakened and is looking for me," she whispered. Then she thumped lightly. It was a very gentle thump, but it brought in a staid reply in a louder, masterful thump, and a big, handsome young Rabbit stepped out into the first ray of moonlight and looked about a bit uncertainly.

"Isn't he handsome? Isn't he a dear? Isn't he the most wonderful thing you ever have seen?" breathed Mrs. Peter. "I tell you what, my dear, you take my place here in this tangle and wait for that old fellow who is sure to come. He really is very nice. You'll like him. You are more nearly his size anyway."

Without waiting for a reply she kicked up her heels and darted away. For an instant he hesitated, then he kicked up his heels and darted after her. Away they went, lippety-lippety, leaving Mrs. Peter alone. Molly had forgotten her completely and the handsome young rabbit hadn't even seen her. Mrs. Peter sighed wistfully. "That's what comes of being young in the moonlight," thought she. She hesitated a moment or two, and then crept into the bramble-tangle to wait.

She didn't have to wait long. She heard a light thump, a thump she recognized. She didn't reply and after a pause there was another thump, an eager, impatient thump. Almost at once Peter Rabbit stepped out into a little patch of moonlight and looked eagerly toward the bramble-tangle. Mrs. Peter crouched a little farther in the shadow.

"How big and handsome he is," thought she. "And how nice he looks. I haven't seen his coat so well brushed for a long time."

Peter thumped again, a gentle thump, an inviting thump. Mrs. Peter thumped as gently. Peter set up so as to show off at his best. "I'm sorry I'm a little late," said he. "Won't you come for another little walk?" Mrs. Peter was delighted to, said little Mrs. Peter demurely and stepped out of the bramble-tangle.

You should have seen the look on Peter's face when he saw who it was. (Copyright, 1931, for The Constitution.)

2 ESCAPED CONVICTS RETURNED TO TERRELL

DAWSON, Ga., Nov. 9.—Ray Roberts, of Lakeland, Fla., and Francis Barnes, of St. Augustine, Fla., two of the three young white men who escaped from the Terrell county jail here Wednesday night, were returned Sunday night by Deputies Guy Johnson and Doug Turner. They were lodged in the county jail to await trial during the November term of county superior court which convenes here next Monday. L. V. Tomlinson, of Jacksonville, Fla., the third fugitive, is still at large.

Roberts and Barnes were arrested at Russell, Fla., late Thursday night. The three men escaped from the jail here by tearing the sheet iron covering from their cell and digging through the brick wall lowering themselves to the ground by means of blankets tied to the iron bars of a window.

When Your Cough Hangs On, Mix This at Home

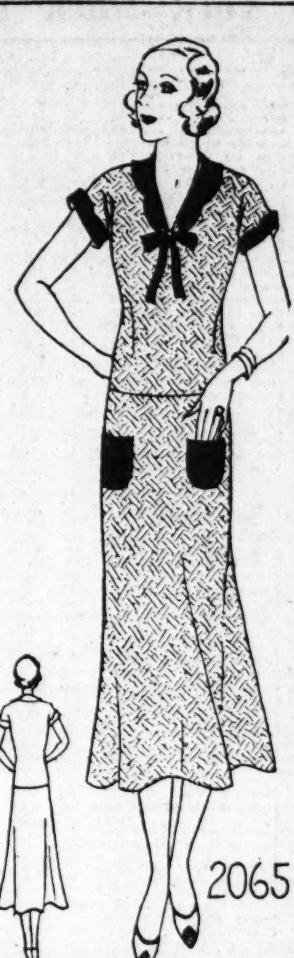

For coughs due to colds, the best remedy that money could buy can easily be mixed at home. It saves money and gives you the most reliable, quick-acting medicine you ever used. The way it takes hold of stubborn coughs, giving immediate relief, is astonishing.

Any drugstore can supply you with 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle, and fill up with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. It's no trouble at all to mix, and when you once use it, you will never be without it. Keeps perfect and tastes good—children really like it.

It is surprising how quickly this loosens the germ-laden phlegm, and soothes the inflamed membranes. At the same time, part of the medicine is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes, and helps the system throw off the whole trouble. Even those severe coughs which follow cold epidemics, are promptly ended.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of severe coughs and bronchial irritations. Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

DAVISON-PAXON CO.
ATLANTA—affiliated with MACYS, New York

NEW YORK, Nov. 9. (AP)—Sales of standard cotton cloths during October amounted to nearly one and one-half times the amount produced during the period, the Association of Cotton Textile Merchants of New York reported today.

At the same time unfilled orders at the end of the month showed an increase of 117,500,000 yards, or 51.7 per cent greater than at the end of September.

The association says that in actual yardage, as well as percentage, this is the greatest improvement in unfilled orders in any single month since these statistics have been gathered.

"This rather clearly indicates," the report says, "that buyers generally are coming to the conclusion that the record low price on cotton and correspondingly low prices on cloth warrant forward commitments and that hand-to-mouth buying is being abandoned in favor of more liberal

It also carries a reasonable assurance that the employees of the cotton textile industry will be the main, be it fairly busy during the coming months.

Sales for October amounted to 332,000 yards, which were 149.3 per cent of production, and 131 per cent of the total of 255,333,000 yards on hand at the end of the month. At the end of September, stocks on hand amounted to 216,207,000 yards. October production was 222,160,000 yards. During the month was October 31 were 344,333,000 yards. From the association's statistics are also known that the cotton textile manufacturers supplied by 23 groups of agents report on more than 200 classifications or constructions of cotton cloth and represent the major portion of the industry.

LIVING COSTS SLASHED BY FLORIDA RESORTS

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 9.—(UP)—Important added attractions will more than offset depression-pleated family treasuries in luring northern visitors to Florida this winter, a survey by the United Press indicated today.

Hotel and apartment rentals have been reduced from $5 to $15 a month in Jacksonville, Miami, St. Petersburg, Tampa, Fort Myers, St. Augustine and Ft. Lauderdale, according to operators passing operating expenses. Motor bus and railroad lines have announced increased and reduced schedules coincident with the winter season, pointing out the fare to Florida and the cost of winter in the north, with coal bills and other such expenses.

Palm Beach showed its confidence in a successful 1932-33 season by spending $550,000 in new construction and renovation work during the summer. Hotels there have opened earlier than in previous years and report that the winter season is better than in previous years with increasing volume.

Tampa business leaders gave out the straitened prediction that tourists probably would increase in number, but that money spent in the city would not be as much as last year, with an estimated $1,200,000 the tourist contribution.

State and local authorities have taken extensive steps to warn from the straitened prediction that tourists probably would increase in number, but that money spent in the city would not be as much as last year, with an estimated $1,200,000 the tourist contribution.

International Army Advocated for Peace

BERLIN, Nov. 9.—(AP)—An international army under the control of a union of all nations was suggested as the "best instrument for peace" by Bishop Christian Schreber, president of the League of Nations, in opening a meeting of the League of Nations, in the city of Berlin.

Delegates from various parts of the world were attending the conference, including Professor Feiler of the Catholic University of Washington, D. C.; the bishop of Rheims, the primate of Poland and representatives of the Vatican.

"War under certain conditions is justifiable in a social duty," Bishop Schreber said. "Such war, however, is invariably an evil, because of the material and moral misery it brings."

The ideal peace movement would substitute for the basis of might a legal system of legal wars. Armaments and the conditions of the Versailles treaty are among the obstacles to peace, the bishop said.

FINAL SERVICES HELD FOR JOSEPH A. GRIFFIN

Funeral services for Joseph A. Griffin, 63, of Temple, who was fatally injured in a train accident on Saturday night, were held today at the Temple Methodist church, with the Rev. L. D. Church officiating. Interment was in Temple cemetery.

Mr. Griffin, a cotton buyer for the Temple, was returning from a trip to Birmingham, Ala., when he was struck by a freight train crossing the Main street crossing in Temple. He was killed instantly.

Mr. Griffin was a member of the Temple Methodist church, and was a well-known citizen of the city. He was married to Mrs. M. Griffin, and had two children.

Jackets To Be in Best of Condition for Pennsylvania Game Saturday BUYER FOUND FOR MOBILE CLUB FRANCHISE

JACKETS FACE GAME AT PENN IN GOOD SHAPE

Flowers To Be Ready.
Leaves Thursday Night for Philadelphia.

By Jimmy Jones.

The average Monday practice of the Georgia Tech football team this season has been held amid an atmosphere heavier than some of those smoke fogs Atlanta has been having. Those Monday workouts of the Jackets were largely of a convalescent nature.

But yesterday Mike Chambers was the only blue member of the squad. Mike, for once this year, didn't have much to do for the Tech boys came through the Carolina game in good physical condition.

And what is more, Buck Flowers, one of the dependable backs who was held out of the game, was stepping about in lively fashion, showing few ill effects from that bad bump on the knee of his punting leg. Flowers will be ready for the invasion of Philadelphia, which gets under way at the Atlanta terminal Thursday night.

WARNER IN UNIFORM.

Bob Warner, a very likely looking young guard, who got his knee hurt away back in September, was out in uniform for the first time. He will not be ready for the Penn trip as he has lost a great deal of time from practice but may get in a game before the season is over.

And added to that, Homer Stalaker, another of the Tech cripples, has discarded his crutches. This doesn't mean a great deal except that Stalaker's leg has mended so fast that he is sure to be as good as ever when it is well. He is a very fine guard prospect and should help Tech next year.

Consequently, Tech will make her pilgrimage to the City of Brotherly Love in good spirits and the best physical condition the squad has enjoyed in a long time.

QUAKERS QUAKING.

The Jackets are not so ambitious as to dream of any conquest over Harvey Herman's team but it is true that the Quakers are still quaking from that Notre Dame typhoon that struck with four teams Saturday. And it stands to reason that Tech is expected to be a better football team from now on.

Captain Nebbett gave as fine an exhibition of line backing as one will see in a college game Saturday. The Penn scout who was here to watch the game made many notes on Captain Nebbett.

Coach Chuck Collins of the Tar Heels thought that Tech had two very promising young backs in Peeler and Galloway and termed Jap Hart a very good little runner.

"When that fellow learns a little more he ought to be one of the stiffest ball carriers in the conference," said Collins. He thought Peeler was a very hard driver. And as for Roy McArthur, Collins had this to say:

DID RIGHT THING.

"Some may criticize him for it, but I thought he did the right thing by switching to an air attack when his running plays were going good. That's when the defensive team least expects a pass," he concluded.

The improvement in the condition of Tech's line will lift a load of worry from Coach Alexander's shoulders.

"I was beginning to think I would have to put Jack Cannon in there if things didn't get better," Coach Alexander said. And as for Cannon, he has shown several signs of wanting to run in there as a substitute when things were going bad this year.

Scouts Return From the West.

Yesterday also was the day for scouts' reports and the returning Jackets sleuths had plenty to report about the other teams.

Mack Tharpe returned from Philadelphia completely overawed by the power of that Notre Dame team that crushed Penn.

"Few teams would have a chance about that outfit and I don't believe I am far wrong in saying that it's the best all-around squad Notre Dame ever had."

According to Tharpe, Hank Anderson used four teams trying to hold the score down and the fourth team kept pulling up the points.

"What am I going to do about it," Anderson told Tharpe after the game, "those substitutes just will score any, no matter who I send in there."

The Notre Dame squad this year numbers 125 players and every combination runs its play with smoothness and perfection.

Tharpe thought, Purina (another good old American name) was Penn's best back. He plays at full and weighs 215. He is full weight, all right.

Bobby Dodd, backfield coach, came in after practice was over, hugging two suitcases and looking like a man on his air voyage to New York, where he scouted Georgia against N. Y. U. Bobby got his schedule mixed, not being used to plane arrivals and departures, but, of course, all the boys asked him if he enjoyed the Folies.

"Robby" Robinson saw Alabama annihilate Florida and thought Harry Cain, of the Tide, as good a fullback as he has seen. He also spoke highly of Chappelle and Holler. Robinson thinks Frank Thomas has his system pretty well in hand now. Florida will be Tech's next foe at home.

"Lifting" Golf Balls Sends Pair to Jail

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Picking up golf balls before they have stopped rolling was termed "disorderly conduct" by Memphis police today. They arrested George Blakely, 21, and Joe Beeton, 22, on a municipal golf course after the park officer reported they picked up several golf balls.

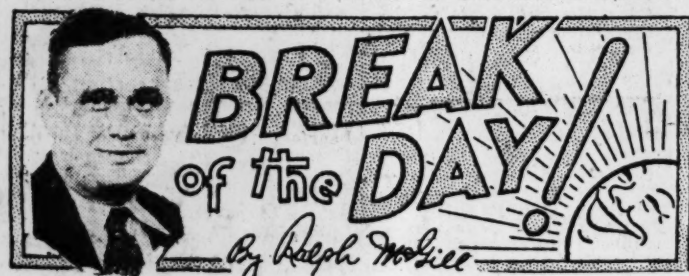

Hail, the Conquering Heroes---Buster Slows Up---Registrar Reed Gets Real Story

When the University of Georgia football team came home from New York Monday it was met at Athens by an admiring throng of townspeople and students. At the left is a part of the big crowd at the corner of College avenue and Clayton street. The cheer leaders are leading yells from the balcony.

In the center Buster Mott, who ran 97 yards to score Georgia's only touchdown against N. Y. U., is starting back to class. N. Y. U. wishes he had been going that slow Saturday. At the right is an interesting group. Registrar T. W. Reed, known to all Georgia men for more than a score of years, is interviewing Austie Downes, center, and Vernon (Catfish) Smith, Georgia colorful end, right, to get the real story of the Bulldog victory. Both Smith and Downes played prominent parts in the victory. Photos by Turner Hiers, Constitution staff.

Undoubtedly you have one in your home. Beyond peradventure of a doubt at least one member of every family is in a jitter because there are four more shopping days before the Tulane-Georgia game on Saturday at Athens.

Four out of five have it—or them—the Georgia-Tulane jitters. Any number of our ordinarily sane citizenry, if carried before a psychiatrist, would be judged on the verge of blowing the top, as the boys say.

Tulane should win the football game. The Tulane team is admittedly better than the one of last season. The Georgia team is also slightly improved. Yet the Tulane team of last fall beat the Georgians, 25 to 0.

At the time the New Orleans people, who are very lovely people indeed, were quite angry when it was stated here that the Georgia team on that day was a bit punch-drunk from a battering schedule. This seemed to the good people of New Orleans to be an affront or an effort to cheapen their victory instead of a bit of honest reporting of what one saw on the field.

Let me hasten to say that the Georgia team on that day was a punch-drunk team and that had it been started at the outset of the game the Tulane eleven would have doubled the score. Because the Tulane team was a fast, strong one.

The second team was started at New York on Saturday. It was just a few minutes, however, until they had to be removed and the regulars put in.

And they took quite a battering from a team that was heavier and just as fast. Especially did Catfish Smith take a physical beating. They were laying for the Catfish. His name had been in the headlines as the big shot of the team.

As it started Catfish Smith tackled a New York runner so hard that his teeth rattled like castanets. Tom Thorpe, the umpire, said to Catfish Smith:

"Son, this is a long game. You've got about 59 minutes to play. You'll wear yourself out early with tackles like that."

A few minutes later Catfish Smith was blocked and some six or eight New York players piled on blithely and cheerfully.

As the battered Catfish arose, Tom Thorpe asked:

"Well, son, now that you boys have settled accounts I guess you will slow up a bit."

"Sunday school word no," said the Catfish. "I am just now getting warmed up."

And so the boys let him have it all afternoon. I do not mean that they swung on his jaw or anything crude like that. But when there was a chance to pile on or let old Catfish have a good hard block, they did it with enthusiastic vigor. And he was giving plenty himself with great tackles and blocks. And a great many others took a severe pounding.

And so, once more, we come to the question of whether the Georgia team left much of its game in the Yankee Stadium. They often say that a fighter left too much of his fight in the gymnasium. And a team often leaves it on the field of a hard game.

This is not, I would have the good people of New Orleans know, an effort to compound an advance alibi for a Georgia defeat. It is an effort to show a physical condition.

PICKING THE WINNER.

If, on the day of the game, the Georgia team plays with a snap and a drive, they will win the football game from Tulane University. (Oh, look, he knows!)

They will win it through the line. This does not

CAMPIGLIO NEW SCORING LEADER

West Liberty Halfback
Amasses 68 Points in One Game.

By the Associated Press.

Bob Campiglio, a big bruising halfback who plays in comparative obscurity with West Liberty (W. Va.) Teachers College, has taken the lead in the national race for individual football scoring honors.

Campiglio jumped far into the lead with a total of 140 points in seven games on Saturday when he scored 10 touchdowns and 8 points after touchdowns for 68 points against Bethel of Kentucky. His sensational play against Fordham recently led Frank Cavanaugh, former coach, to call him the "best back Fordham has faced this year."

Bob Monnett, of Michigan State, scored 32 points against Ripon to hold second place with a total of 126 points.

Fells Far Ahead
In Conference.

By the Associated Press.

The twinkling heels of Nollie Fells, Tulane halfback, who has scored at least one touchdown in every game the Greenies have played this season, have carried him to the front in the race for Southern conference scoring honors. Fells leads the conference with 68 points.

Fells made three touchdowns and rushed through the line for one point after touchdowns to make 19 points at the expense of Auburn Saturday.

Leon Long, Alabama's scoring ace, crossed Florida's goal line twice to boost himself into second place in the scoring scramble with 54 points.

Tired Bulldogs Return Home to Great Welcome

Athens Turns Out To Greet Heroes; Coach
Mehre Talks of His Team's Condition.

By Dillon Graham,

Associated Press Sports Writer.

ATHENS, Ga., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Coach Harry Mehre says his Georgia football team is in the position of the fellow who beat a big man and then found a bigger one waiting in front.

"Say," he asked, when questioned about the team and prospects for the Tulane game here Saturday, "did you ever have a fight with a big guy? Well, did you ever get through and find a bigger one standing right there with his fists raised? And how did you feel?"

The players are in good physical condition, but that's all the good news Mehre knows today. Everything else is black, very black. To hear him talk, he's already given up hope of beating the Big Green team from New Orleans.

His drawl was more pronounced than usual today as he admitted his team appeared "flat." "We're planning to hold down the score to less than the 25 to 0 lacing they gave us last year."

The Bulldogs, 37 of them, returned today from New York and the 7-to-0 victory over the Violets to receive the cheers of thousands of students and townspeople gathered at the little station.

They slipped away to classes and early this afternoon were out on the practice field again. A light workout was held and, Mehre says, he plans the same program all week.

"We'll probably get in one scrimmage Wednesday or Thursday, but the boys are too tired for much hard work."

NEARLY EXHAUSTED. "We're nearly exhausted. We've had a tough season. The boys couldn't get keyed up for the N. Y. U. game and don't let anyone tell you the boys didn't try to."

"They looked very poor. Nope, we didn't use much stuff. And why? We couldn't. They were stopping us cold before we started."

"Passes? Yeah, we may try some Saturday. We were scared to use many against the Violets and especially after we got that one-point lead. It was their job to beat us then."

BETTER LINE. "We've met some good lines but they tell me Tulane's is even better. Yeah, yeah, I know Auburn held them for one-half, but they didn't hold them for two halves, and most times they pay off on that last half."

But your reserves are stronger than Auburn's, he was reminded. "Is that so? Didn't I try them against New York and didn't I have to jerk them out and plenty quick?"

Tonight the pair of southerners debated the same question with a Columbia team in a hall on the university campus. This engagement closed their New York debating season. They had railroad tickets for the return to Athens, and Coach Mehre will drop his forensic manners to get in training for the gridiron game with Tulane next Saturday.

Crenshaw pointed to the "horrible state of the children of divorced parents." Sidney Greenman, N. Y. U. told of the "fearful plight of children whose parents are not divorced."

Hawkins said divorce was polluting the courts. James Keller, N. Y. U., said divorce is all right, maybe something's wrong with the courts.

Tilden Wins. PARIS, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Big Bill Tilden, professional tennis star, defeated the German, Nusslein, 6-2, 6-3, 6-3, in an exhibition match today. In doubles, Hans Nusslein and Roman Njuch defeated Tilden and Frank Hunter, 6-4, 3-6, 6-1.

Sammy Mandell Retires From Ring

CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—(UP)—Sammy Mandell, of Rockford, Ill., former world's lightweight champion, retired from the boxing game today at the suggestion of the Illinois State Athletic commission.

Mandell appeared before the commission today as an aftermath of his bout with Ralph Lenzy, of New Jersey, at the Chicago stadium last Wednesday night. The bout was stopped in the eighth round and called "no contest."

In commenting on the bout, the commission reported that the bout was honestly fought and that both men gave their best efforts but that Mandell's condition acquired by many years of active service in the ring handicapped him. Mandell was paid his purse of $1,250.

Griffiths Undergoes Appendix Operation

CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Tuffy Griffiths, Sioux City (Iowa) heavyweight, underwent an operation for appendicitis today, which will keep him out of the ring for several months. His condition was pronounced satisfactory.

Joyce Wethered To Wed Golf Star

LONDON, Nov. 9.—(AP)—The engagement of Joyce Wethered, noted British woman golfer, to Major G. H. Hutchinson, also golfer, was announced today. Miss Wethered is 30, her fiance is 54. He reached the final round in the amateur championship play in 1909.

TEN TEAMS LOSE FOR FIRST TIME

Davis & Elkins Still Leads Parade of 26
Unbeaten Elevens.

By the Associated Press.

November's first football engagements cut the national list of undefeated football teams to 26, eliminating 10 colleges who boasted perfect records a week ago.

The casualties during the past week were Penn, Massachusetts State, St. Mary's, of Oakland, Cal.; Kansas State, Utah Aggies, Depauw, Maryland, Ursinus, Stanford and Waynesburg.

Still out in front is Davis and Elkins College, of Elkins, W. Va., which has tallied 299 points against none for the opposition in eight successive victories. The West Virginians, however, may come a cropper against St. Louis this week.

Second place in scoring among unbeaten teams belongs to North Dakota with 251 points; third to Tulsa with 237; fourth to Cornell with 232, and fifth to Syracuse with 231.

The nation's unbeaten teams follow:

Team	W. L. T.	Pts. For	Pts. Against
Davis & Elkins	8 0 0	299	0
Oklahoma City	8 0 0	184	29
Tulsa	7 0 0	237	14

Post Season Tilts To Aid Jobless

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 9.—(AP) A choice post season football menu was planned today for Arkansas fans, the proceeds to go to unemployment relief.

Called together by H. C. Conch, unemployment relief director for Arkansas, presidents and representatives of eight colleges of the state agreed to send their teams to the field in a series of games in half a dozen cities.

Colleges agreeing to participate were Hendrix, Ouachita, State Teachers, Henderson State Teachers, Monticello, A. & M., Arkansas Tech, Magnolia A. & M. and Jonesboro A. & M.

Only the University of Arkansas definitely decided not to participate, officials stating they were opposed to the Razorbacks participating in a post-season game. Although College of the Ozarks and Arkansas College were not represented, the conference believed they would join the other schools in the plans. Final details are to be worked out by the conference here November 21.

TOWNSEND COPS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Billy Townsend, Vancouver welterweight, pounded out an easy 10-round decision victory over Andy Savola, of New York, at the St. Nicholas arena tonight. Townsend weighed 144 1-2; Savola 142 1-2.

Identity of Purchaser
Withheld; Proposal Accepted by Byrd.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 9.—(AP)—A purchaser has been found for the Mobile Baseball Corporation's franchise in the Southern association agreeable to the league and on terms acceptable to the majority stockholders of the club but final consummation of the sale will depend upon a three-fourths vote of all the stockholders of the corporation.

John D. Martin, president of the league, made this announcement tonight at the conclusion of the annual meeting of the league directors.

The proposal was made in confidence, Mr. Martin said, and no announcement could be made as to the proposed buyer until the matter had been ratified by the three-fourths vote of the club's stockholders.

Byrd Douglas, president of the Mobile corporation, accepted the proposal as majority stockholder. He planned to call a stockholders' meeting at once to submit the proposal for ratification. Under Alabama law five days must elapse from the time the call for the meeting is issued until the time for the meeting.

The offer was confined to an outright purchase of the franchise and the players.

Mr. Martin said the offer was made in strict confidence and he could make no further announcement at this time. Nor could he indicate whether it contemplated the retention of the club in Mobile or its transfer to some other city.

Approval of the proposed purchase was given by the league directors unanimously.

OWNERS SATISFIED. "We are thoroughly satisfied that the franchise would be in capable hands with ample financial backing," Mr. Martin said, "and we believe the matter will be settled within the next week."

Several prospective purchasers had been reported unofficially in the market for the franchise. One was that a major league club had it under consideration. St. Louis' Nimitz, former owner of the Chattanooga club, was here for the meeting and told newspapermen between sessions that he might be interested in acquiring the franchise provided the club could be transferred to Knoxville. Bob Allen, former owner of the Little Rock and Nashville clubs, also was at the meeting but he did not indicate whether he had the purchase of the club in mind. No intimation was given as to whether either of these had a part in the transaction.

Before adjournment the league decided on April 12 as the opening date for next season. The schedule will consist of 154 games.

PLAYER LIMIT CUT. Before turning to the Mobile franchise problem to be in approval of a franchise to reduce from 18 to 17 the number of players each club may have on its roster during the 1932 season, re-elected Nimitz, A. Smith for his fourth year as league auditor, and waded through a flood of routine business.

In accordance with custom, the directors decided to meet January 18 in Birmingham for the approval of a 1932 schedule, the drawing of which was delegated today to Thomas R. Watkins, Memphis; Larry Gilbert, New Orleans, and W. A. West, Birmingham.

MARTIN SILENT.

President John D. Martin had nothing to reveal regarding prospects for a satisfactory disposition of the Mobile club problem. He did not reveal what bidders were present, nor the nature of their offers.

Bob Allen, former owner of the Little Rock Travelers and the Nashville Volunteers, was here for the meeting. He did not indicate whether he would submit an offer for the franchise. Memphis newspapers published reports that offers would be forthcoming from the St. Louis Cardinals and possibly other major league clubs.

The meeting approved the annual report of President Martin, showing the league in "good financial condition" and adopted resolutions requiring 55 contracts, 13 major league clubs for exhibition games, and proposed.

Season for Ducks To Open Monday Under New Rules

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—(AP)—The duck hunting season will open at noon this year instead of sunrise to afford greater protection for the birds whose numbers have been seriously depleted by drought.

Colonel Harold P. Sheldon, United States game conservation officer, said when the season opened at 12 noon ducks were killed on the first day before they left their resting grounds.

"After the first day, however," he said, "the ducks get wise that the hunting season is on and they remain on the alert. From then they are not in such a helpless position."

The change was adopted by the advisory board which already has shortened the hunting season to one month.

Among the localities in which the season opens next Monday are Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee and Texas.

In virtually all of the other states, the season already is open.

'Bama, Duke Show Growing Efficiency in New Systems--McGugin

GEORGIA PRAISED, TITLE MAY RIDE ON TULANE GAME

Vandy Coach Terms Commodore Victory Over Vols 'Improbable.'

By Dan E. McGugin, Football Coach, Vanderbilt University.

(Copyright, 1931, for The Constitution by the North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 9.—Some of the highlights over the week-end were:

The remarkable consistency of Georgia in defeating N. Y. U., one of the great teams of the East, Saturday after Saturday, through a very hard schedule. Georgia has won victories, and now looms as one of the best teams in the country.

The advancing power and skill of Alabama evidenced by 41 points scored against Florida. Coach Thomas is making real progress with the Tide.

The consistency of Tulane in scoring 27 points before a first-class Auburn team. The very good showing under the circumstances, by L. S. U. against a powerful Army team.

WADE GETS GOING. The victory of Duke over Kentucky, proving that Wallace Wade is beginning to get his system installed and clicking.

The ability of Vanderbilt to score 39 points on the brilliant and heretofore undefeated Maryland team. Maryland has a puzzling and amazingly skillful passing attack, a weapon which has also stood Vanderbilt in good stead in years past but which she seems unable to use this year.

The fine victory of Sewanee against Minneapolis.

Taking the country over, it is astonishing to observe the number of 7-6 scores. It follows there is probably no better way of breaking ties than the try for point after touchdown.

VITAL GAME. The high point in the Southern conference comes next Saturday with the Georgia-Tulane game. Whichever team wins will, in all reasonable probability, go through the conference undefeated. Another game next Saturday in which there is vast interest is that between Vanderbilt and Tennessee.

Should Vanderbilt win, of which there is not much probability, in view of the season's record of the two teams, the winner of the Georgia-Tulane contest can, in the absence of some very unlikely upset, be acclaimed conference champion.

In a conference of 23 members, it is not often that one team can hold undisputed leadership.

AERIAL ATTACKERS. Gil Dobie, at Cornell, has a backfield assembled especially for a passing attack. When he wishes to take to the air Dobie sends in Stevens, Cooper, Handelman and Pentecost.

FOOTBALL NEWS

SEWANEE, Tenn., Nov. 9.—(AP) The University of the South team rested today, Coach Harry Clark announcing that practice would start tomorrow for the game at Birmingham Saturday with Auburn. Hayes, tackle, probably will be out for the rest of the season with an injured elbow.

TENNESSEE. KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 9.—(AP) The University of the South team rested today, Coach Harry Clark announcing that practice would start tomorrow for the game at Birmingham Saturday with Auburn. Hayes, tackle, probably will be out for the rest of the season with an injured elbow.

ALABAMA. UNIVERSITY, Ala., Nov. 9.—(AP) Alabama's football squad was rewarded today for the convincing manner in which Florida was disposed of Saturday, and after the short unimpressive session Coach Frank Thomas called it a day. There were no casualties from the 'Gator encounter.

AUBURN. AUBURN, Ala., Nov. 9.—(AP) Chet Wynne picked up the loose ends of his football team today and took stock of damage left in the wake of Tulane's mighty Green Wave at Montgomery Saturday. Although no serious injuries were reported, the Plainsmen were pretty well battered up.

KENTUCKY. LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 9.—(AP) The University of Kentucky Wildcats began their preparations for their game with V. M. I. with a scrimmage between the second and third teams. The players who took part in the Duke game were excused early. The Wildcats came out of the Duke game in good physical condition.

VANDY. NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 9.—(AP) Vanderbilt forgot its usual Monday semi-holiday today to crowd in just that much work before meeting its old state foe, the University of Tennessee, in Knoxville Saturday. Coach Dan McGugin started his men on limbering up exercises and then put them through punting practice and a long signal drill.

V. M. I. LEXINGTON, Va., Nov. 9.—(AP) Virginia Military Institute today got down to work of preparing for Saturday's clash with Kentucky. The team came out of the Clemson clash on Saturday without serious injuries and found a shift of position from guard to center strengthened the line. It is expected that this lineup will be retained.

GAMECOCKS. COLUMBIA, S. C., Nov. 9.—(AP) South Carolina took a light practice today as it began work for the Florida game. Coach Billy Laval had his squad practice passing, punting and signals.

Captain Miles Blount, who was injured in an automobile wreck Sunday, was expected to work for practice tomorrow. The team came through the Furman game in good shape.

CLEMSON. CLEMSON COLLEGE, S. C., Nov. 9.—(AP) Coach Jess Neely sent the Clemson Tigers through a light workout today. The Tigers meet Alabama Saturday.

STIRLING-ADGIE GO DRAWS FIRE OF COMMISSION

Local Body Terms Matt 'Unsuitable' Foe; Final Decision Reserved.

Max Abelson, local matchmaker, has met with opposition from the Atlanta boxing commission in his plans for matching Young Stirling with Matt Adgie, Chicago heavyweight, here November 17.

Abelson was informed by that body yesterday that Adgie's name could not be found among its list of bona fide heavyweights, and that the local commission was not disposed to consider him a worthy opponent for Stirling to meet here.

By way of reply, Abelson announced that he had no intention of substituting another fighter for Adgie, and that he would abide by his original plans, pending official sanction for the match.

The local commission yesterday wired the national boxing commission for a statement on Adgie's ability, and is withholding its final decision until a reply is received.

The Stirlings, who will arrive in Atlanta Thursday night or Friday, following W. L.'s bout in Muscogee, Okla., Wednesday night, have agreed tentatively to the match.

Abelson yesterday produced Adgie's record from 1927 until 1929, showing that he had boxed draws with Joe Lohman and Jack Dorval, had beaten Eddie Huffman, Battling Levinsky, King Solomon, Ray Neuman and Mike McGuire.

Abelson also pointed out that Adgie had dropped close 10-round decisions to Leo Lomax, George Courtney, Pat McCarthy, Harold Mays and Pete Latzo.

"Adgie is no championship contender, but he is about as good a man as we can bring here for a house that is less than $3,000," Abelson declared.

"Meanwhile I will take for granted that I will be permitted to stage the bout, and I plan to give the crowd a good show with prices of $1, $2 and $3," he concluded.

Abelson is going ahead with plans to book a semi-final, and is considering several good boys.

Adgie fought Tony Canela, former Florida football star, in Chicago last night. He is handled by Billy Stevens, who publishes the boxing magazine, Bang.

Adgie was injured in an automobile wreck Sunday, was expected to work for practice tomorrow. The team came through the Furman game in good shape.

CLEMSON. CLEMSON COLLEGE, S. C., Nov. 9.—(AP) Coach Jess Neely sent the Clemson Tigers through a light workout today. The Tigers meet Alabama Saturday.

Adgie was injured in an automobile wreck Sunday, was expected to work for practice tomorrow. The team came through the Furman game in good shape.

Point After Touchdown.

November wind came tapping on the pane—The chill November wind that knew no truce—When sudden legions marching through the rain, Pushed the grim gray line to Dun-Sur-Meuse.

The old wind told a tale of yesterday, When khaki youngsters with a dauntless zeal, Made flat dead, a serried Argonne poppy field.

Where scrimmage meant the clash of steel on steel.

Then through the thorny wire's jagged bars, That rip young flesh and strain the crimson mire, For second down, a shell-swept poppy field.

Time out! And God have mercy on McGuire!

The khaki line sweeps up Hill Twenty-four, Nor shrap nor pill-box halt its hammer blows.

Third down—La Tondue farm is taken too, But Sammy Goldberg's through with selling clothes.

Big Bertha now intones a death-charged cheer, Its shrieking accents climb the flame-swept sky.

Fourth down—with Chateau Thierry in the rear, Poor Davey Jones! He was so young to die.

Now krimhilde-stellung spews a leaden rain, Montblainville Bois is drenched with fighting blood.

But there's Sedan! The Meuse! They've broken through! (Mike Angelo is stretched out in the mud.)

Tonight, beyond the far-flung outmost stars, Dick Sheridan will meet with a fighting men;

In some Valhalla for the warrior-born, He'll like those lads. How they will take to him!

—HAROLD GILMARTIN.

On Stopping Notre Dame.

What chance has Southern California or the Army of stopping Notre Dame this month? It all depends on the weather and the field. I don't believe any team in the country can hold Notre Dame on a fast or dry field, but it may be quite different in the mud.

Notre Dame has an attack that depends largely on quick-starting, shiftiness, feinting here and striking there. It places small reliance upon raw power.

But it is almost impossible to mix up a fast-running attack and a smooth forward passing attack in rain and mud. Under such conditions the stronger and the weaker are about on the same level. It isn't, in any way, as fair for one as it is for the other.

Such conditions bring the strong down to the weak. It is merely a leveler.

With good weather prevailing, Notre Dame should go unbeaten. On a wet, slippery field it may just as well be anybody's game.

Something To Avenge.

A year ago about this time Tulane trimmed a hitherto unbeaten Georgia team, 25-0. About the same time a strong Holy Cross outfit mopped up Harvard, 27-0. Here have two terrific wallows delivered upon highly vulnerable spots.

On Saturday, Georgia faces Tulane again as Harvard moves against Holy Cross. And it might be mentioned that while Georgia and Harvard are both good, Tulane and Holy Cross are just as strong in 1931 as they were in 1930.

Both Georgia and Harvard are naturally quite keen to wipe out these two 1930 massacres. And yet both will have to play better football this Saturday than they played last Saturday to pick up anything that looks like revenge.

Both will need all they have, and it is possible that even that may not be enough.

Tulane and Holy Cross at this present stage are nothing to pick on unless the pickers carry a lot of artillery into action.

Two Others.

Two other unbeaten teams have something to face in the way of possible revenge. They are Syracuse and Temple, who so far have been able to take the count. Last fall Colgate ran all over Syracuse and Carnegie Tech did the same to Temple. Now the two unbeaten teams face the two even teams, enemies confronting them, and while both the enemies have fallen, both are still replete with high-class stuff.

Which is just another way of suggesting that Syracuse and Temple have about all the work ahead they can look after in one afternoon.

There will be nothing very light and fluffy about the coming Michigan-Michigan State battle, when you relax for a minute and think it all over. Michigan will find Monmouth as busy a back as any field can show.

In the meanwhile, Cornell happens to be another unbeaten team facing an opponent who copped the laurel a year ago. The opponent is Dartmouth, a good team but a hard luck outfit up to date. And who can say how much luck will switch from one week to another? There are even times when bad luck will suddenly grow worse. And at least an even break is needed for any team hoping to take Cornell.

BULLDOGS BEAT POWERFUL FOE, TRUMBULL SAYS

Violets Were at Peak; L. S. U. Praised for Stand Against Army.

By Walter Trumbull.

(Copyright, 1931, for The Constitution by the North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Harvard, Syracuse and Cornell are still among the big eastern football teams which are unbeaten and untied. Syracuse and Cornell did not have much difficulty in keeping their slates clean, but the Crimson was no further ahead of Dartmouth at the finish than a goat's nose is in front of its cheekbone.

It came down to a question of whether Barry Wood could kick a goal after touchdown. Barry could and did. The statistics of the game were all in favor of Harvard, but there was just one point difference in the score. Middle point also was the difference between Georgia and New York University, and if the game were a matter of statistics, the southerners would have been the victors.

Madison and Leathers are among their northern opponents. For the greater part of the game Georgia was outplayed, but all that ever shows in the record books is the score. New York wasted opportunities to win. Georgia took advantage of the one opportunity that came.

BULLDOGS "ANNOYING." This Catfish Smith is a highly annoying individual to any rival team. Madison and Leathers are annoying. So are those Georgia backs. Mott's 97-yard run back of a kick-off for a touchdown was highly annoying. It spoiled the tactic of a crisp winter afternoon for many New Yorkers.

New York did not play against Georgia in the slovenly fashion it did against Oregon. This was a powerful team on Saturday. That merely means more credit for the team which defeated it. But even in the light of Georgia's victory, Hugert should have been a champion. Chalmers looked like a splendid center, and Bob McNamara and Abbe blazed brightly as backs.

The final upset of the day came at Princeton. Here, again, the statistics were in favor of the Tigers, but the score was in favor of Lehigh. Most of us believed that the sons of Nassau would find themselves in this game, but instead they lost themselves in a maze of fumbles. With them, a good beginning made a bad ending. So Lehigh, beaten by Princeton, Johns Hopkins, Penn and Brown, has another Tiger pet to hang on its classic walls.

NO SKEPTICS LEFT. No skepticism remains in the east as to the strength of Notre Dame. Yare, Kurth, Schell and the rest of the fighting Irish ran over Pennsylvania's undefeated eleven like a rolling pin over pie crust. The four horses would run themselves in any game. All Notre Dame has to replace them are the four racing cars and the seven army tanks.

And Notre Dame galloped through and around and over a team with a vigorous line and good backs. Penn did not figure as any setup. It had beaten Wisconsin, which had beaten Purdue, and had run over Michigan in a larger score against the Badgers than did Minnesota. They must have quite an eleven out there at South Bend—and quite a second eleven—and quite a third eleven.

Louisiana State played stubbornly and creditably against Army, but try as they would, couldn't play hard enough to keep warm. It was a chill and bitter breeze which swept the heights of West Point, and the southerners were accustomed to warmer weather. However, Louisiana had been well scouted, and Army's defense was functioning perfectly. The Soldiers were a bit too strong.

ARK. ATTACK WINS. Detroit showed Fordham a stout defensive team, and the Rams had to take to the air to win. Columbia, with its really strong back, had too much man-power for a first-year Virginia squad, Pittsburgh, Yale, Colgate, Cornell, Lafayette and Syracuse won in expected fashion. Williams beat Wesleyan by a larger score than many thought likely.

Davis-Ellins kept its record clear. Bucknell's victory over Georgetown, and Temple's defeat of Villanova, were accomplished only after hard struggles. Brown was too strong for Ohio Wesleyan, and Ohio State had little trouble in winning from Navy.

ARKANSAS PLAYER TO LEAVE TEAM

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Nov. 9.—(AP) Coach E. C. Kelly's backfield ace of the University of Arkansas Razorbacks, did not return here with the squad from Chicago.

Coach Fred C. Thomsen said Kelly apparently had anticipated a decision of university authorities this week, declaring him ineligible, as a result of scholastic difficulties.

Kelly was opened before a scholastic committee last week, it became known the star was deficient in grades this fall, because of alleged class cutting. He passed the required number of hours to play the entire season under Southwest conference rules, but under university rules, was required to remain in good standing throughout the whole year.

Kelly has been a regular starter in the Parker backfield and is considered one of the best ball-carriers in the conference.

East Lake Opens New Greens Today

Opening of the new winter greens on the No. 1 East Lake Club course will take place this morning. The new greens on the new course were opened for play last week and, despite the drought, they are holding up unusually well.

Frank Ball, pro, and L. R. Hunter, amateur, finished all square with Ernie Ball and Leslie Kellett, East Lake pros, in a week-end sweepstakes. Hunter set the pace with a medal round of 70.

BREAK of the DAY

mean that the touchdown will necessarily be made through the line. But it does mean that I believe the Georgia line will find a vulnerable point and that an attack there will be able to pull in the Tulane defense so that a wide end attack or a pass game will score for Georgia.

This, however, is based on the idea that the Bulldogs will be at the peak. It will be possible for anyone in the stands to determine whether or not the Bulldogs are fast afoot, alert and quick in attacking and meeting the attack.

In other words, if the Bulldogs had not traveled more than 2,000 miles, and played one of the best teams in the east, probably the best team, in one of the most terrific battering games of the year, I do not believe there would be any doubt about it. Georgia would win. And no one will know until Saturday what Georgia has. It will require a great team to be at a great peak to beat Tulane.

ATTENDANCE RECORDS. Georgia has played before the largest crowd to see a football game in New York. And on Saturday will likely play before the greatest crowd that will witness a game in the south this year.

When Dean S. V. Sanford build that stadium at Athens he knew what he was doing. He believed that Harry Mehre would produce an interesting team.

The dean is a great reader and he believed with the late R. W. Emerson that if a man build a better mouse trap than anyone else the world would cow-tromp a path to his door. Georgia has the football team and the dean, courteous and chivalric, thought that when the world began cow-tromping a path to Athens they ought to be able to sit down.

AND SPEAKING OF SCHEDULES. There was an article in the New York Times of Sunday, reprinted from the Yale Daily News, which seemed to this reporter, to size up a certain situation in very fine shape. It was headed, "Yale News Decries Booking Weak Teams Before Big Tests," and it read as follows:

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 7.—(AP)—Scheduling of a football game with a small school in preparation for a major contest was decried editorially today by The Yale Daily News.

The paper criticized the Yale game with St. John's this afternoon as a probable "fiasco." Meanwhile, it said, Harvard is preparing to meet Yale by playing Dartmouth and Holy Cross.

"Where is the good old 'devil-may-care' spirit," the editorial asked, "which does not stoop to petty things, which plays football for the fun of playing the game, and not for the hope that she (Yale) may prove herself a superior institution by defeating her adversary in athletics?"

This answers critics of the makers of Georgia's schedule for the past few seasons. Georgia is playing an interesting schedule worthy of a great team. If the team goes through it the prestige will be worth while.

AN EXAMPLE. There is no excuse for Tennessee, for instance, scheduling Carson-Newman before the Vanderbilt game and sending eight of the first eleven to Nashville to watch the Vanderbilt-Maryland game last Saturday. Tennessee alumni should protest.

There are other examples over the Southern conference equally as flagrant. It is hardly a sporting attitude to take in the matter. That is gross over-emphasis of football, more so than the scheduling of eight or nine difficult games for a team to play.

The Yale News protest was to the point. Alumni of institutions playing such schedules should take some action. Deliberate scheduling of weak games before what is expected to be the harder tests, doesn't look so good. Or maybe you think it does.

BOBBY DODD RETURNS. Bobby Dodd, Georgia Tech backfield coach, returned from New York Monday by plane. He had scouted Georgia's play.

"Catfish Smith was the only Georgia player who played up to form," said Dodd. "The others did not seem to click. I was rooting for them hard, but they all seemed a bit flat but Smith. I was awfully glad Georgia won. Smith showed me a lot."

Dodd's estimate of Smith is correct. Smith has been one of the greatest ends in the south for three years. A good game against Tulane would make him probably the nation's outstanding end. And he deserves it. They say that the Catfish gets by on spectacular plays now and then. Forget that. He's a great end.

DODD'S PLANE TRIP. Bobby Dodd flew up to New York and back for his first plane flight—which was a he-man trip and quite up to the Dodd character.

"I was sick before we left the city limits of New York coming back, but I rallied and came along all right. The trip was a bit rough, but we made it."

Dodd arrived late for practice. He had wired earlier in the day that his reservations had been mixed.

"Just a country boy in the big city," said Coach Alexander, cheerfully.

THE MATCH TONIGHT. That wrestling match tonight should be a good one. Frank Speer and Paul Harper make a great match.

While in New York last week your correspondent called on Joe "Toots" Mondt, the fellow who taught Speer wrestling and an old friend in years past.

"As soon as Speer learns a bit more footwork he is going to make a great wrestler," said Mondt. "I hope they like him in Atlanta. He is going good."

Mondt also paid a tribute to Henry Weber, Atlanta promoter, saying that Weber was a credit to the promoting game and that his honest methods made him an asset to the sports life of any city.

THOSE VERSATILE GEORGIANS. Those Georgia football players are versatile boys.

Lloyd Gilmore, the fullback, whom the boys call "The Fiddling Fullback," is really an accomplished violinist. And Mac Crenshaw is a debater. He participated in a debate Saturday night at New York with one of the N. Y. U. debaters. The latter, however, was not a football player.

And have you ever heard Harry Mehre on the zither? Or Ted Twomey on the xylophone?

Lefty Grove Blanks Japanese Collegians

TOKYO, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Although it lost the game to a team of American major and minor league barnstormers, the Meiji University baseball team set 49,000 Japanese fans to cheering wildly today by hitting Lefty Grove, Philadelphia Athletics' hurler, for two singles, and George Kelly, minor league player, for a double. The Americans won the game, 4-0.

Grove fanned 11 Japanese players, retiring in favor of Kelly at the end of the seventh inning.

Al Simmons, of the Athletics, hit a home run, and Frank J. O'Dougherty, a three-bagger.

The Score: Americans..... 4 3 0 Meiji University..... 0 2 1 Grove, Kelly, Tsuburaya, Iwakawa and Yagawa, Kikukichinsu.

PREP ELEVENS START PRACTICE FOR HARD GAME

Eligibilities Questioned, Tech High, Boys' High Work for Friday.

By Roy White.

Another of those eligibility battles that precede the annual Tech High-Boys' High football game, scheduled for 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon at Spiller field will have to be fought out according to reports from the two schools Monday.

Seldom ever, particularly in the past dozen years, has a Tech High-Boys' High game been played without a verbal battle regarding the eligibility of certain players.

Just where the reports originated and how many players it will affect was not learned. Coaches Claude Tolbert of Tech High, and Shorty Doyal of Boys' High, refused to comment, only to admit that eligibilities had been questioned.

These arguments add coals to the fire and make the game all the more worth while. So intense was the argument several years ago, that one half of the game was played according to the city prep rules and the other half was played under the G. I. A. A. rules, both being members of both organizations.

WORK CO-OPERATES. Leaving the question of eligibility at the schools with the principals and their records, rival coaches and players went about their work Monday afternoon. They have plenty to do and every minute possible will be spent on the practice field each afternoon.

Piedmont Park was literally bubbling over with football Monday. Tech High, University School, Boys' High and the usual sandlotters were at the park.

Due to a number of injuries on the team, Coach Tolbert has called off the rough work at Tech High this week. The players will be doing a lot of dummy scrimmages designed to stop Boys' High and to perfect more power in the Tech High attack. Coach Tolbert is taking no chances with further injuries.

Boys' High will follow an entirely different practice program. The Hurricane, already having lost three games, is fighting to make a greater offense for the Smithies game. Boys' High had an open date on its card last week.

HARD SCRIMMAGE. A long hard scrimmage Monday and another Tuesday will end the rough work at Boys' High. Wednesday and Thursday will be devoted to dummy scrimmages against Tech High players.

G. M. A. will complete its work this afternoon in preparation for an Armistice game Wednesday with Lanier High in Macon. The game will feature an all-day celebration in the Central City.

Members of the North Georgia Interscholastic Conference still have a lot of work to do before issuing a title for the year. University and Russell will help solve the question Friday at East Point. Decatur, DeKalb, Fulton, Spalding, Wilkes, and Wilcox will play games in Rome. Marietta plays Douglasville in Douglasville and Commercial journeys to Griffin in Friday games.

Leagues Formed At Meeting Here

The American, National and Southern Leagues of the Sunday School Athletic Association will be formed at a meeting held at the Atlanta Athletic Club last night. The two boys' leagues are filled up to their capacity of eight teams each, but there is still room for more girls' teams in the Southern League.

J. L. Culver, president of the association, said these leagues will not only give the girls a chance to play, but will also give them a chance to fill one of the vacancies.

Willie O'Connor, Tom Slate and Lyman Johnson were elected as referees for the season, and Frank Kopf will keep score and time.

The members of the American League are: E. L. L. of Calvary Methodist, Westminster Presbyterian, Grace Methodist, Peachtree Christian, Moore Memorial, Palmetto Baptist, Central Presbyterian, and T. N. T. of Baptist Tabernacle. The National League is made up of Gordon Street Presbyterian, Calvary Baptist, Central Presbyterian, Second, East Point Baptist, Go-Get-Em Class, Stewart Avenue Methodist, Grant Park Baptist and Western Heights. These leagues will play on Tuesday and Thursdays.

The Southern League has in it Grace Methodist, Westminster Presbyterian, Eastern Heights, Central Presbyterian and Peachtree Christian. Three more girls' teams are wanted.

Tulane Faces Stiff Practice for Georgia; Bierman Dissatisfied

BULLDOGS HOLD LIGHT WORKOUT FIRST DAY HOME

McWhorter Hurt But Is Expected To Be in Wave Game.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Tulane's football squad went through a miscellany of practice today and tomorrow and the next they will be given hard scrimmages to toughen them for the game Saturday with Georgia at Athens.

Coach Bernie Bierman was not satisfied with the Green Wave's performance last Saturday in beating Auburn, 27 to 0. They played indifferently, he said, as he outlined a merciless schedule on the practice field.

Today was spent in running, punting, passing and calisthenics to get the kinks out of their muscles after the week-end loss. Tomorrow and Wednesday the coaches will take chances on injuries by running them through hard-boiled scrimmages.

LEAVE THURSDAY. If they come through the practice uninjured, 36 men will entrain Thursday evening for Atlanta, where they will be taken by special train to Athens Friday morning.

On Friday the squad will be followed by two special trains of Tulane rooters, including the university band and the cheer leaders. Seven hundred football tickets already had been sold in New Orleans today and 300 more were expected to go before the sale ended.

The team will have the whole city of New Orleans back of them as the town is aroused as it never has been before over a football game. They believe the game will mean the southern championship for Tulane and an invitation to the Rose Bowl in California on New Year's Day.

TRAVEL ANY WAY. Football enthusiasts were planning to travel from New Orleans by passenger and freight train, automobile and about with the hope of begging rides to see the great unbeaten eleven in action.

One group sought to rent a box car for the trip and when they were turned down by the railroad some of them said they would ride box cars anyway.

McWhorter Hurt; Georgia Drills. BY AL SMITH.

ATHENS, Ga., Nov. 9.—A very light practice this afternoon topped off Coach Harry Meyer's regular Monday afternoon lecture to his Georgia football squad. The boys who played most of the game against N. Y. U. were sent to the showers after running around Sanford field a couple of times. The others remained for a little signal running, while the Red Devils worked until dark trying to learn those Tulane plays Johnny Broadnax brought back from Montgomery.

Back in their home ballfield again, Georgia's Bulldogs today had a few reminders of the N. Y. U. clash in the form of the arches, pains and bruises that are a natural result of 60 furious minutes of football.

Yasoon McWhorter, varsity center, is the main injury in the Bulldog camp. Yasoon limped off the field at the Yankee stadium Saturday with a badly bruised foot. An X-ray picture taken tonight when Bulldog coaches began to have visions of their star center with a broken foot, revealed that no bones were broken.

McWhorter is expected to be ready to go Saturday.

Trainer Clarence Jones had a lot of bruises to look after, when the short Bulldog practice was over today, most of the boys had to be doctored. None of the injuries are serious.

Blocking Stressed In Tarheel Drive

CHAPL HILL, N. C., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Blocking practice was stressed by Coach Collins today as he gave his University of North Carolina Tarheels a heavy workout in preparation for the Davidson game Saturday. Emphasis was given also to defensive tactics for forward passes as Collins said it was in these two departments his team showed up weakest against Georgia Tech Saturday.

BUYER IS FOUND FOR MOBILE CLUB

viding that no admission ticket for which less than 50 cents is paid shall be counted in attendance figures on opening day competition for the Martin trophies.

The league again adopted a resolution providing for the payment of $2,500 each to the three clubs finishing lowest in season attendance.

The club owners' pool from the "Dixie Series" will be divided in the same manner as last year. The first $5,000 will go to the pennant winning club. The remainder will be divided into two equal parts, one part going to the pennant winner and the other prorated among the other seven clubs.

SPIRIT NAMED. Selection of a league statistician to succeed Charles H. Miller, of Memphis, was deferred.

President Martin named W. D. Smith, of Birmingham, as chairman of the committee on the constitution to serve with R. J. Spiller, of Atlanta, and Joe Engel, of Chattanooga. The resolutions committee is composed of Fay L. Murray, Nashville, chairman; Ray Winder, Little Rock, and Byrd Douglas, Nashville, president.

Strang Nicklin, former owner of the Chattanooga club, entered the lists of interested parties in connection with the Mobile franchise. Nicklin conferred with Mr. Martin and told newspapermen he might be interested in the purchase of the franchise provided it remained in Knoxville. But he indicated he would not consider taking it over unless it was free of all entanglements.

Petrels Scrimmage For Wake Forest

Herrin and Harrison Star in Drill; Campbell Reports Giant Team Coming Friday.

By Jack Troy.

Jack Harrison, sophomore fullback, and Claud Herrin, fleet-footed veteran quarterback, ripped through the line and raced around ends for long gains yesterday as Oglethorpe began the first of four days of practice for the Wake Forest game here Friday with a scrimmage.

The first part of yesterday's drill at Hermance field was devoted to dummy scrimmage, with the varsity eleven running their plays against the second team.

Coach Robertson drummed a lesson into the green-uniformed freshmen soon started getting tougher than that dummy furnished an answer to that.

Harrison gave the same kind of a performance that he did in the only scrimmage of last week, ploughing through the line with lots of drive and once past the forwards, racing into the open field and away.

Herrin picked his holes with precision and also flashed past would-be tacklers one by one once beyond the line of scrimmage.

STRESSES ALERTNESS. Coach Robertson drummed a lesson into the stormy Petrels yesterday. Once Herrin was away on a fine run and had eluded all freshmen in his path when an Oglethorpe back clipped from behind the freshman nearest to Herrin and who didn't have a chance to catch him.

That brought from Robertson such an outburst of oratory as to make all concerned feel very uncomfortable indeed and wish perhaps that the play hadn't occurred. Well, it didn't again.

The work of rest seemed to do the Petrels a world of good. The boys were pepped up and entered the workout with a better spirit than had been evinced in some time.

There is certain to be a change in the Petrel backfield for the Wake Forest game. In fact, the eleven that worked together yesterday is the same that will start Friday.

CHANGED BACKFIELD. Jack Harrison has moved in as the regular fullback, with Nammie Raines and Frank Anderson at halfbacks, and Claud Herrin at quarterback.

Dave Barrow returned to the wars yesterday, his infected foot having completely healed. His return was heartily welcomed.

That made the varsity line the same as played in the Furman and Clemson games, with Captain Parker Bryant and Paul Goldsmith at ends, Dan Kenzie and Marion Whaley at guards, and Andy Morrow at center.

This powerful combination functioned smoothly yesterday. Kenneth (Nutt) Campbell, Oglethorpe's backfield coach, who scouted Wake Forest against Presbyterian last Saturday at Greensboro, N. C., walked out on Hermance field yesterday loaded with fearsome tales of a giant eleven.

HUGE TEAM. "Wake Forest beat Presbyterian College, 12 to 0, of course," Campbell said, "and they did it with one of the biggest teams I've seen in the south."

"The Deacons have a 210-pound center who plays like Art Koeniger, of Chattanooga. His name is Gardner. They have in Captain Brogden and Green two 210-pound ends. And that's just a beginning. Webb and Williams, the tackles, weigh 240 pounds apiece, and the two guards, Kessler and Dupree, are 190 pounders."

"That gives them a 205-pound line and a backfield containing three 190-pound backs and one stripping only weighing 170 pounds. Wilson, halfback, is a great runner."

SIX-FOOTERS. "It's a team of giants, with 10 players over 6 feet and one, the quarterback, of better than average height."

Nutt also declared that the Deacons are a great passing team and strong defensively. They are weakest offensively, according to Nutt. Wake Forest holds victories over North Carolina State and Erskine, besides Presbyterian, and tied Clemson. That Presbyterian victory was Coach Pat Miller's first in six years of annual rivalry.

Duke Scrimmages Against Freshmen

DURHAM, N. C., Nov. 9.—(AP)—With a 45-minute scrimmage against the freshmen, the Duke Blue Devils this afternoon started preparation for their tilt with North Carolina State at the stadium Saturday.

The Devils reported today in good condition. Bert Friedman, star guard, who was injured in the Kentucky game, was on the field, but did not take part in the practice. His injury will probably keep him out of the state game.

Thomasville Plays Valdosta Wednesday

THOMASVILLE, Ga., Nov. 9.—Football teams of Thomasville and Valdosta high schools will meet here Wednesday in their Armistice Day contest. This game is the grid battle of chief interest every autumn in this immediate section of south Georgia, and is played alternately in the two towns. This year it takes place in the Thomasville municipal stadium, and will draw a crowd from both sides of the Georgia-Florida line.

Thomasville has won three, lost none and tied two games, while Valdosta has won four, lost one and tied one game.

President Hoover To Attend Olympics

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—(AP)—The part the president will play in opening the Olympic games in Los Angeles next August was discussed today by Mr. Hoover and Charles H. Sherrill, of New York, a member of the international committee on the games. The president already has agreed to attend the Los Angeles opening, but Sherrill said another formal invitation would be tendered for him to attend the winter sports which open soon at Lake Placid, New York.

Trojans Picked To Represent West In Bowl

Tulane Favored To Play Southern California New Year's Day.

PASADENA, Cal., Nov. 9.—(UP)—The University of Southern California has been chosen to represent the far west in the annual Tournament of Roses football game on New Year's Day.

The official invitation was tendered tonight during a Pacific coast conference football meeting. The Trojan school is expected to invite its Rose Bowl opponent in about two weeks.

The decision to have U. S. C. represent the west was reached after the Trojans had defeated Stanford, 19 to 0, Saturday and practically clinched the coast conference title. Southern California's only two remaining conference games are with Washington and Montana, and neither is conceded much chance to win.

C. Hal Reynolds, chairman of the tournament football committee, indicated that Northwestern, Tulane and Harvard top the list of teams favored as the Trojans' opponent for the annual classic.

It is the custom of Rose Bowl officials to invite the winner of the Pacific coast conference to represent the west, and some outstanding team from the north, east or middle west. The New Year's game is not in any sense a championship encounter, but a meeting between representative teams of the east and far west.

Speer and Harper Meet Here Tonight

Ex-College Football Stars Appear at Auditorium in Match Which Fans Requested.

Frank Speer, the new grappling star, will meet Paul Harper, the Texan, in the feature match of tonight's card at the auditorium in a finish match.

The Speer-Harper match is one which local mat fans requested after Speer's great showing against Dick Daviscourt. Daviscourt, after losing the first fall, came back with "Thor's Hammer," as the boys call it, and won.

"Thor's Hammer" is a blow from the flat side of the arm delivered to the face and jaw. Speer stayed in there and took it with a great exhibition of courage. He was unable to come back after losing the second fall.

All those who are dubious about the wrestling being a strenuous game should have seen Speer's spit and bleeding lips, the bruises on his jaw and the attending illness.

He will be back tonight against a man who wrestles and does not depend on a "hammer" blow. Harper has not appeared here in some months. He is by way of being an outstanding favorite here.

HOOK SCISSORS. Harper is a great user of the "Figure 4" or the hook scissors, a hold he learned from watching Paul Jones, the originator. Harper is a very skillful and powerful man. He played football in Texas. Speer played at Tech. It should be a great bout.

Speer, much to the delight of his friends here, has developed into a capable wrestler.

The semi-windup to the match brings in another newcomer. Matchmaker Weber has signed Jack Burke, 210-pound Irishman, who has a good reputation in other grappling centers.

DEMPSEY WIRES HE'LL DISCUSS FIGHT FUTURE

Jack To Confer With Johnston in Gotham in December.

By Edward J. Neil.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Jack Dempsey wired Jimmy Johnston at Madison Square Garden today he would be in town the middle of December to discuss among other things, his fight future.

When the resulting excitement died down, the new head of the Garden's boxing department, outlined the propositions that will be laid before Dempsey if the former heavyweight king, now 36 years old, decides his exhibition tour had reconditioned him sufficiently to tackle another comeback.

The Garden will offer Dempsey no guarantees, Johnston explained, but he can have a handsome share of the receipts for a tune-up bout in Miami, Fla., in February, against one of four men—Tommy Loughran, Johnny Risko, Paulino Uzcudun or Tom Heeny.

GAMES WANTED. The English Avenue Epworth League basketball team, winners of the title for the past three seasons, is anxious to arrange a series of games each Wednesday night with amateur teams in and around the city. Games can be scheduled by calling Chick Harris, at Jackson 7790-J.

FOR CHARITY. Loughran and Uzcudun already have offered to sign blank contracts for a Dempsey match, donating their shares of the proceeds to unemployment relief.

If Dempsey can knock out the man he selects for the battle of the south, he will be offered a match here in one of the ball parks with Jack Sharkey next May or June.

Another victory would rate the old

Atlantan Purchases Highlands Estates

HIGHLANDS, N. C., Nov. 9.—(AP) Sale of Highland Estates, Inc., including 325 acres, a golf course and a clubhouse, to Wallace T. Daley, of Atlanta, a trustee of the estate, was announced here today.

The announcement said the sale was made to satisfy defaulted payments on bonds.

man mauler a September bout with Schmeling for the title he won from Jess Willard 12 years ago, lost to Gene Tunney in 1926 and failed to regain in his desperate duel with the marine in Chicago the following summer.

Johnston had hoped to have Dempsey here within the next ten days for a conference but the former champion explained his exhibition tour would keep him in the west another month.

OUTLINES PLAN.

Dempsey has had the Garden's proposition under consideration for several weeks, it developed today. Johnston explained that he had outlined the plan of campaign to George Getz, Chicago businessman who aided Tex Rickard in the promotion of Dempsey's second match with Tunney. Getz had in turn outlined the proposition to Dempsey. Getz is interested in taking one of the matches to Chicago if Dempsey accepts the Garden offer.

As outlined, the proposed campaign would allow Schmeling, who is scheduled to arrive here next month from Germany, sufficient time to engage in a little defense against Mickey Walker in Los Angeles this winter as a tune-up for a Dempsey go next summer or fall.

"Advertisements in The Constitution save me money"

S AID a prominent Atlanta woman the other day: "I used to wonder why my friends seemed to buy so much more economically than I did. They would chortle over some special value that I never seemed to know about."

"I found out they were reading the advertisements in The Constitution every morning. They said the leading merchants in Atlanta always advertise the best values they have that day in The Constitution because everybody makes their shopping plans in the morning.

"Since I have been following the advertisements in The Constitution I am actually saving money. I am buying more carefully, too, and I don't have the bother and trouble of sending back as many articles as I once did. It's a real economy and it saves a lot of time to make your shopping plans from the values Atlanta merchants offer you every morning in The Constitution."
